Claim Of 'Rescue' By Foreign Sub Regarded As Hoax

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—A mystery voice, trembling as though from terror, besought help at sea today. The radioed plea claimed a foreign submarine picked up 21 survivors from an American fishing boat aflame and sinking off the New Jersey coast.

Seasoned seafarers heard the weird message beamed by radiotelephone. But there was mounting evidence that it was nothing but a fantastic hoax.

A vast air and sea search of 3,700 square miles of calm Atlantic waters failed to produce any concrete evidence to back up the marine drama so vividly described by the voice crying out in the night.

Not American Sub

Last word received from a vessel identifying itself as the 40-foot fishing boat, Blue Star, was the agitated cry:

"A submarine is surfacing about 350 yards from us. It is coming alongside. It is proceeding to take survivors aboard. It is not an American submarine."

Then a pause, and the voice trailed off with the words:

"I don't think they'll let me talk any more."

After that, silence and, despite hours of intensive search, no trace of any disabled fishing craft or its occupants.

Life Jacket Found

All American and Allied submarines in the general Atlantic area were accounted for.

Searchers did find an orange life jacket bobbing in the sea about 10 miles south of where the Blue Star was reported in distress. But it bore no markings.

An oil slick was sighted in the same area. However, Coast Guard officials said such a slick need not necessarily denote a tragedy.

Boy Tossed Into Tree By Tornado

MARSHALL, Minn., July 7 (AP)—A 3-year-old boy was flung into a tree and killed late today by a tornado which raked a wide area west of here. At least 10 were injured, some seriously.

Victim of the circling twister was Clifford Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlow Larson, who live about 12 miles west of here. His body was found in a tree on the farm of August Waabema, where he and his four brothers and sisters were playing when the tornado hit.

The four other Larson children suffered injuries, but were believed not to be seriously hurt. Mrs. Waabema and her son, Gary, also were hurt. Every building, including the house was destroyed.

Crops Damaged

The twister first hit near Arco, Minn., moved northeast for a few miles, then circled around and went toward the southwest.

Most of the damage was in an area south and west of here. Crops suffered heavy damage as large amounts of rain and hail accompanied the tornado.

Mrs. Sidney Kompelien was in critical condition in the Marshall hospital after the storm destroyed all the buildings on her farm 10 miles west of here. Her husband also was injured and was hospitalized. Neighbors found him lying near the remains of a corncrib.

Marshall is about 200 miles southwest of Minneapolis.

MRS. CELIA COX, 69, embraces her brother, George Guldransen, 71, of New Brighton, a Pittsburgh suburb, whom she had last seen 48 years ago when she left Norway. In 1917 she had been informed that he had died. The brother-sister reunion came about when a nephew found Mrs. Cox listed in a California telephone book.

Green Still Choice For Chairmanship

HARRISBURG, July 7 (AP)—Gov. Leader insisted today the surprise election of G. Franklin McSorley as chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission won't affect his choice of Rep. William J. Green for the same post.

He indicated that McSorley, a 51-year-old Pittsburgh Democrat, was elected by the commission to the chairmanship to serve only until Green's appointment is confirmed by the Republican-controlled Senate.

Asked if he thought McSorley's elevation to succeed Thomas J. Evans of Coaldale, meant that Green would be dealt out of the picture entirely, Leader pointed out that the law requires the commission to have a chairman at all times in order to sign necessary documents. He intimated the commission filled that need temporarily with McSorley's election.

Green, Philadelphia Democratic City Chairman, has announced he will resign his congressional seat if confirmed to the state post by the GOP-controlled Senate.

Republican spokesmen have labelled his appointment a political one. The chairman controls patronage of some 3,000 state jobs now in Republican hands.

Air Cooler, Humidity High

By The Associated Press

INTRUSION of slightly cooler air into Pennsylvania yesterday improved temperatures somewhat but failed to overcome high humidity.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Harrisburg said there was little prospect of any radical change in the current steam-heat situation before next week.

"The outlook still calls for thundershowers Friday afternoon and Saturday with no indication of a real change to cooler weather before about Sunday," the bureau disclosed.

Cloudiness over much of the state Thursday morning held temperatures in most areas slightly below the 90-degree mark, but the difference of a few degrees did little to cool anybody.

Coolest temperatures were recorded west of the mountains ranging at mid-day from 78 at Pittsburgh to 81 at Erie.

1956 'Alert' Operation Set

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The White House today disclosed tentative plans for a gigantic Operation Alert in 1956 in which all three branches of government will flee Washington while the armed forces stage war games.

In a report to President Eisenhower on last month's three-day evacuation of 15,000 federal workers from the capital under assumed H-bomb assault, Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming also revealed that:

A "high-level task force" is studying whether "any other course of action" than martial law—which was proclaimed hypothetically by Eisenhower in the recent alert—can be invoked in a mass-bombing emergency.

All federal agencies are being urged to establish permanent relocation sites, continuously staffed on a skeleton basis, to which their Washington workers could report in an evacuation.

U. S. Newspapers Continue Climb

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Daily circulation of U. S. newspapers rose to a record high in the six months period ended March 31, Editor & Publisher magazine said today.

The magazine also reported that newspaper advertising lineage in 52 cities continued to climb, with further gains in May.

Work Expressway Terminal Chosen

HARRISBURG, July 7 (AP)—The state Highways Department today selected the eastern location of two proposed routes for the York Ex ressway by-pass as the "most economical and efficient."

Joseph J. Lawler, state secretary of highways, said construction of the highway east of York instead of along a proposed route west of the city would cost $3,750,000 less than the west plan.

Doffs Jail Garb, Appears In Raw

MIAMI, Fla., July 7 (AP) — Arrested for appearing naked on the streets, John McElroy, 35, told police he took off his clothes because he didn't want to be conspicuous.

The arresting officers agreed that he had a good reason for the strip act. He was wearing a prison uniform.

Confession In Slaying Repudiated

LOS ANGELES, July 7 (AP)—Law student John R. Crooker Jr. today repudiated his five-page handwritten confession that he killed a wealthy socialite divorcee when she rejected his love.

He claimed police had forced him to make the statement and that it was not true.

Crooker's denial, made through his attorney, came shortly after he appeared for arraignment on charges that he murdered Mrs. Norma McCauley, 33, last Tuesday. Preliminary hearing was set for July 19.

Atty. Raymond C. Simpson conferred with the man for 20 minutes and then told newsmen:

Claimns Coercion

"Crooker asserts that the confession was obtained by coercion. He is definitely not guilty of killing Mrs. McCauley."

Simpson charged that Crooker underwent 14 continuous hours of grilling.

Simpson is a former law professor who instructed Crooker while he studied at Pepperdine College.

Detectives said Crooker, onetime houseboy at Mrs. McCauley's home, told them he knifed and strangled the 4-foot 11-inch socialite after she went to sleep on a lounge while he was pleading his love. Efforts to find the knife have not been successful.

Ike To Weekend At Gettysburg

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower will leave early Friday afternoon to spend the weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

The White House said today if the weather is right he will fly. He probably will return Sunday evening.

Senate Agrees To House Cuts In Arms Aid

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The Senate and House completed action on a compromise $3,285,800,000 foreign aid authorization bill today and sent it to President Eisenhower.

Final action on the measure, which is 123 million dollars short of Eisenhower's requests, was sparked by a controversy over Defense Department handling of previously voted military aid funds.

Vote Later On Funds

Actual funds to carry out the new authorizations must still be approved by both houses, and there may be a move for further cuts then.

The Senate at first accepted the $3,408,000,000 authorization sought by the president, but went along with a 145-million-dollar reduction in arms aid funds voted by the House.

The Senate also accepted a 22-million-dollar increase in defense support funds approved by the House. Originally intended for Spain, this money was not earmarked for any particular country in the final draft.

Sent To President

Final Senate approval came on a voice vote. The House then sent the measure to the President on a 262-120 roll call vote.

Boxcars Pushed 27 Miles By Wind

CARMAN, Man., July 7 (AP) — Violent winds started two empty boxcars rolling at Stephenfield early this week and pushed them through an open switch to a Canadian National Railways branch line. They sailed along 27 miles to Sperling before being derailed. No damage resulted.

Eden Plans Close Study Of Russian Policy, Sees Western Guarantee Against Reich Threat

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden said tonight he wants to take a good look at Russia's new look before judging it.

Talking to the English-Speaking Union about the coming Geneva summit conference of the Big Four, the Prime Minister said:

"I've said less about Geneva than anyone else who's going there."

Then—relaxed and smiling in his white tie and tails—Eden proceeded to say a great deal about the meeting of himself, President Eisenhower, French Premier Faure and Soviet Premier Bulganin.

New Soviet Look

"Some say, and I read it in the press and elsewhere, that there's a new look in the policy of Soviet Russia. It may be so—I trust it will prove so.

"But," he added, and his voice rose with emphasis, "I hope nobody will accuse us of hanging back if we take a good look at the new look before we pronounce upon it either way."

His audience of 1,250 in the Dorchester Hotel ballroom applauded enthusiastically.

Eden said the West is ready to give the Soviet Union a reasonable guarantee against any threat from a free and united Germany. He said it is reasonable to look for "real if modest" progress at Geneva.

States Principles

The Prime Minister said Britain would go to the meeting of heads of government dedicated to three principles:

"We are not prepared to break up NATO."

"We will not be parted from the United States."

"We will work for the unification of Germany."

Security Aide Evades Quiz On Liaison With German Girl

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—A government security officer parried questions today as to whether he had a liaison with a German "Miss X." He acknowledged he sponsored her entry into the United States.

The witness, before a Senate Civil Service subcommittee, was George V. McDavitt, security officer for the Small Business Administration.

McDavitt, a slender man of 48, protested that the questions intruded into his private affairs, and that the Supreme Court has held a congressional committee cannot do this.

"Did you associate with Miss X?" persisted Paul C. Hadlick, of counsel for the subcommittee.

"I stand on what the Supreme Court has decided," McDevitt replied.

Letter From Superior

Hadlick read into the record a letter from W. J. Faucette of Durham, N. C., who in 1951 was one of McDavitt's superiors in Germany when McDavitt worked for the Displaced Persons Commission.

The letter said McDavitt's work was better than average, and that Faucette had noticed nothing that would reflect on McDavitt's loyalty.

It went on to say, however, that McDavitt had "formed a liaison with a local girl" and that after McDavitt's wife arrived in Germany there was quite a bit of difficulty and embarrassment.

McDavitt testified he didn't know what was meant by a liaison, but "I met local girls."

Accused By Two

The subcommittee is inquiring generally into operations of the federal security program. In McDavitt's case, it was following up charges by two former SBA employes who had worked as investigators under McDavitt.

One of these, Clarence E. Clarke of Portland, Maine, said McDavitt had used the security program as a device for firing employes under Civil Service procedures.

The other, Louis J. Lyell of Jackson, Miss., said McDavitt had shown a total disregard of the rights of employes.

Employment Pushes Ahead To New High

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell reported today that employment rose to a new high last month and added: "This should be the best year in history for American labor."

Mitchell's preview of forthcoming employment - unemployment statistics for June came as Congress moved another step toward fixing the federal minimum wage level at $1 an hour.

The House Labor Committee approved this figure 21-9 after defeating, by a 15-15 tie vote, a Republican move to hold the increase to 90 cents an hour as requested by President Eisenhower.

The Senate already has voted to raise the wage minimum from the present 75 cents an hour to $1, effective next Jan. 1. The House measure sets next March 1 as the starting date.

Mitchell announced that June employment figures, which will be released in detail tomorrow, show a "smaller than seasonal rise in unemployment."

Gov. Leader Lists Four Obligations

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (AP)—Gov. Leader promised tonight that he will settle for nothing less than a budget to provide "adequately" for Pennsylvania's school children, mentally and physically handicapped and unemployed.

Carrying his appeal for adoption of his record $1,800,000,000 1955-57 budget to a meeting of the ladies' auxiliary of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars, the governor says:

"When I sat in the governor's office . . . the harsh statistics of Pemsylvania's economic dilemma suddenly took on flesh and blood as human realties.

Puts Education First

"They became for me a solemn obligation to do at least four things."

He listed the four obligations as:

1. Meet educational needs.
2. Provide a better mental health program.
3. Industrial development to provide jobs for the state's 319,000 unemployed.
4. Leaving the office of governor with a clean financial slate.

To do this, the governor emphasized, he set up his classified income tax and tax on other holdings to raise an estimated 503 million dollars needed to balance the budget.

He said his proposed levy can never be "popular" but it "can be fair."

Governmental Reorganization Agency Set Up

HARRISBURG, July 7 (AP) — Gov. Leader promised bipartisan representation on a 12-member government reorganization commission created by a new law he signed today.

Under the law, the governor can appoint anyone he desires to the agency. But he emphasized that both Republicans and Democrats, and particularly legislators, will appear on the commission roster.

The group would make its recommendation on government reforms by the end of 1956.

Disarmament Plea

BRIONI, Yugoslavia, Friday, July 8 (AP) — Yugoslavia and India today pleaded for world disarmament and a ban on atomic weapons with effective international control.

State Sends Bill To Farmer For Fire Fighting

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., July 7 (AP)—Samuel K. Christman, 62, a Fayetteville RD2 farmer, has received a bill for $1,4 2.18 from the state as his share of the cost of fighting a forest fire that was accidentally touched off by a brush fire on his land.

The fire, in April, spread over a square mile of land in the nearby South Mountain area. Hundreds of volunteers turned out to fight the blaze. Christman was charged with negligence in permitting the fire to begin and a justice of the peace released him on bond.

Conferees Reject Channel Project

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) —Senate-House conferees today refused to approve an appropriation of six million dollars for deepening the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Trenton, N. J.

The action apparently means the project—after a big last-minute effort had landed administration approval—is lost for this year. The House and Senate rarely vote against recommendations of a conference committee.

U. S. Still Against U. N. Seat For Reds

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — The State Department served notice that Prime Minister U Nu of Burma is mistaken if he thinks the United States favors the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Press officer Henry Suydam said he was authorized to state that, "There has been no change in United States policy to oppose the seating in the United Nations of a representative of the Chinese Communist regime".

Suydam told newsmen he hoped this "flat, unequivocal statement" would disabuse U Nu of any idea to the contrary.

Question of Timing

The Burmese Prime Minister, one of the leaders of Southeast Asia, had said at a news conference in New York yesterday he had got the impression in Washington "that most of the responsible people are not against the admission of Peiping into the United Nations." It was rather a question of timing, he had added.

U Nu's remarks stirred up a number of Congress members and led to a demand by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) that the Prime Minister name the "responsible officials" who gave him that impression. Bridges is chairman of the Republican Policy Committee in the Senate.

Asked whether any question of timing was involved in the State Department's statement, Suydam said no — the time factor was deliberately left out of the statement.

At the White House, presidential press secretary James Hagerty told newsmen the subject of Red China's U. N. entry did not come up in U Nu's talks with Eisenhower and Dulles.

Bars Segregation

NORFOLK, Va., July 7 (AP)—Federal Judge Walter E. Hoffman today ruled the State of Virginia cannot deny Negroes the use of Seashore State Park.

VFW Proposes Pensions For World War I Veterans

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (AP)—The Department of Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars, today adopted a resolution calling for pensions for the nation's three million World War I veterans.

The resolution cited the fact that the average World War I veteran now is 57 years old and that similar federal pensions were given to survivors of the Civil War and the Spanish-American conflict.

A resolution to give veterans owning real estate a $500 exemption in tax valuation was defeated.

Among the resolutions passed were a series denouncing recommendations of the Hoover Commission which would curtail payments and hospital benefits to veterans.

O. E. Ketchum, the VFW's national legislative director, followed up with resolutions with a sharply critical attack of the Hoover Commission, the American Medical Assn. and other critics of the VFW program.

Ketchum said the total cost of 175 years of veterans benefits do not equal what the nation has spent since 1940 alone on foreign aid programs.

Warns Russia But Calls For Friendly Ties

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) —In a move to smooth the way for the Big Four Conference, the United States today accepted Russia's offer to pay half the damages for the shooting down of an American plane in the Bering Strait last month.

Secretary of State Dulles had previously demanded full compensation for the loss of the Navy Neptune patrol plane, destroyed in a crash landing on Alaska's St. Lawrence Island after being fired upon by Soviet jet fighters. Dulles also wanted full compensation for injuries suffered by 7 of 11 crewmen.

Accepts 50 Per Cent

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov had offered to pay 50 per cent of the total damages for plane and crew. In a note made public today the United States accepted that offer.

The exact sum is to be determined later, State Department officials said. The plane alone, minus equipment, cost about 1½ million dollars.

Today's note wholly rejected Russia's version, which had sought to put responsibility on the United States. But the note was conciliatory in tone. It contained an element of warning against repetition but also expressed desire for improved relations with Russia.

U. S. Denies Violation

Molotov had told Dulles the American craft had violated the Soviet frontier and that there was "an exchange" of gunfire between it and the Soviet MIG. The incident occurred in the area between Alaska and Siberia.

Today's American note said the plane was on a routine flight "of a regular and well-known character" in the channel between St. Lawrence Island, which is American territory, and the Soviet Union. Then the note declared:

"Carefully verified information discloses: That the United States plane was at no time nearer the Soviet Union than the approximate middle of the above mentioned channel and was always well over international waters; that it did not at any time fire on the attacking Soviet aircraft; that no warning of any sort was given by the Soviet fighters before they opened fire on the United States plane."

Construction Of Military Projects Voted

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — The House today passed a compromise $2,360,530,300 bill authorizing military construction projects around the world, many of them secret.

The bill, stressing Air Force and radar warning facilities, now goes to the Senate for final action. House approval came on a voice vote, with no debate.

The compromise version was worked out late yesterday by a Senate House Conference Committee.

(Included in the measure is a $649,000 appropriation for construction work at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot).

Laborite Suggests Churchill Attend Big Four Parley

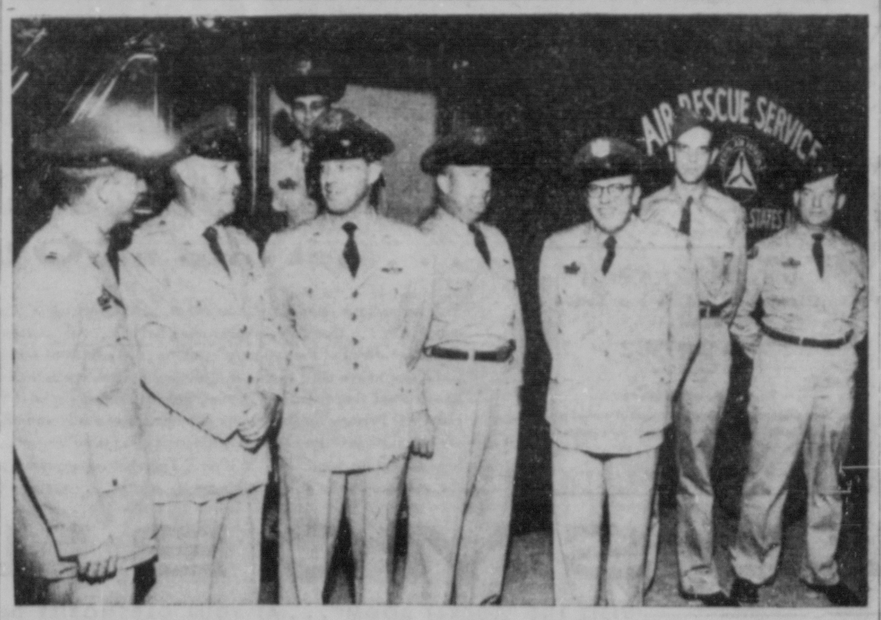

LONDON, July 7 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden today dodged Laborite suggestions that he take Sir Winston Churchill to the Big Four summit parley as an adviser.

Laborite Marcus Lipton asked Eden in the House of Commons: "Would it not strengthen the British delegation and please many people in many lands if he (the Prime Minister) would invite Sir Winston Churchill to accompany him to Geneva?"

Eden refused to answer directly. He said he understood the question Lipton had submitted earlier concerned only junior officials who would assist him at Geneva.

Measure Sets Up Large Rewards

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The Senate today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a bill offering rewards up to half a million dollars to any person who furnishes "original" information to the government on illegal manufacture or importation of nuclear weapons.

Grand Jury System Hit By Juurist

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (AP)—The grand jury system often is misused and is sometimes an "instrument of injustice," an Allegheny County judge said today.

Judge Loran L. Lewis made the criticism in an opinion by which he and Visiting Judge Walter L. Anderson of York County quashed an indictment against Andrew Stefanchin of nearby Homestead.

Stefanchin had been charged with conspiracy to indict by filing a false criminal charge against William White. White was acquitted on a charge of helping to rob the home of Thomas Conlin, former Homestead police chief, several years ago.

Indictment Recalled

Judge Lewis noted that Stefanchin was indicted as the result of a special state grand jury investigation in 1951.

Judge Lewis said grand juries in general have "now become a group of men and women gathered from the community who oftentimes function largely under the dictates of a prosecutor."

"This has developed," he declared, "not because the members of the grand jury want to be mere puppets, but because they are reluctant to assert their rights in the presence of the prosecutor, who oftentimes tries to impress them with his knowledge of the law."

Four-County Civil Defense Setup In Formation Stage

CIVIL DEFENSE directors of Monroe, Northamton, Lehigh and Carbon counties were instructed to draw up a framework for a four-county CD organization yesterday at ameeting at Split Rock Lodge.

Attending the meeting were commissioners from the four counties, the Civil Defense heads and a representative of the State CD organization.

Preliminary discussion of the proposed organization was carried out at yesterday's meeting. Purpose of the four-county organization would be to act as a coordinating body for alf CD efforts in the four areas.

Such a coordinating agency would prevent duplication of effort and would permit each county CD organization to keep on file an up-to-the-minute account of all CD plans. The key to success of the organization would be cooperation in provision of information and use of all CD material available in times of emergency and or alerts.

Enthusiastic Response

In general, according to Northeastern Area CD Director Jack Anderson, county commissioners attending the meeting were enthusiastic about the four-county CD unit proposal. Commissioners directed CD officials to set up a meeting for discussion of the proposal among themselves, then report back to a full meeting with a plan for organizateion.

CD directors from the four counties will meet in Stroudsburg, at the Monroe County CD offices in the courthouse on Thursday, Aug. 4, at 10:30 a.m., Anderson said.

Those slated to attend this meeting will be Norman Flores, Lehigh County; Col. John S. Rubaker, Northampton; Nelson W. Norwood, Carbon and the host officials, Judge Fred W. Davis and Paul Crawn, of Monroe. Judge Davis is Monroe CD director and Crawn is the executive director for this county.

A full-scale meeting of commissioners and CD officials will be held again sometime in September, Anderson said.

From 1939 to 1953, the price of milk rose about 60 per cent compared with a 130 per cent average increase in food costs, says the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Girl Scouts, Brownies Near End Of Second Week Of Camp

GIRL SCOUTS and Brownies are deep in their Day Camp activities at Camp Lloyd Treible as the close of the second week of the four-week camping period approaches.

Visitors will be welcomed today after 1:30 to inspect the work and watch the girls at their activities.

Much of the activity of the older intermediate unit, the Pioneers, centers around the shelter, newly-built this year. They are cooking all their meals there and have learned to bake potatoes and vegetables in foil and to pitch tents.

All the units have progressed in crafts with yarn dolls, copper jewelry, velvet and sequin bands, and nature-lore terrariums among their accomplishments.

All the scouts are together for the color cermonies which begin and end each day around the new camp flag pole, presented and erected for the Girl Scouts by Line Material Co.

70 Artists Enter Show

THE FIRST outdoor art show of the 1955 Summer season opens today in Stroudsburg under the auspices of the Pocono Mountains Art Group.

Olive Dreher, chairman of arrangements committee for the show, estimated this week that nearly 70 artists will be on hand to display their works of art.

Paintings, crafts and other articles will be displayed along N. Seventh St. and in Court House Square. Lines of lights have been erected to make night-time viewing easy, Miss Dreher said.

The show continues through Saturday night. It opens this morning at 10 a.m. with closing hour set at 10 p.m. The same hours apply tomorrow.

Most of the works on display will be for sale, Miss Dreher said. Artists will demonstrate their working methods during the show. Color slides will be shown at night by the Pocono Camera Club and the Pocono Color Slide group. The camera club will also have a special display of black-and-white photographs.

Price Funeral Services Held

FUNERAL services for Mrs. Sarah A. Price, 86, late of Cresco, were held yesterday afternoon at Mountainhome Methodist Church.

Rev. Harold MacMurray officiated. Interment was made in Oakland Cemetery. Pallbearers were John Decker, Paul Schaarschmidt, George, Earl, Henry and Milton Price.

Two Sections Scheduled To Get Service

STROUDSBURG Council and the Municipal Authority of the borough will meet in joint session soon to establish a pattern for extension of sanitary sewer service in areas being built up with homes.

The authority is the owner of the entire sanitary sewer system, including treatment works. It leases it back to the borough.

Under details of the lease, bond indentures and other agreements involved in this transaction—instituted to finance treatment works improvements and extension of service to West Stroudsburg—the authority has complete power over sewer extensions.

The authority, under the bond indenture, dare not spend any monies for extensions until such time as a reserve fund, built up gradually with the pattern of sewer bond amortization having priority, reaches a specified amount.

Reserve Not Sufficient

Reserve fund of the authority, which has only been functioning a short time, is not capable of defraying cost of any extensions now.

However, council has at least two areas in mind for sewer line extensions. One is the Grove St. section in the N. Eighth St.-Phillips St. region, and the other is Woodcliffe Ave., located between Bryant St. and Club Court.

Possibility of the borough council and authority establishing a pattern for such extensions until such time as the authority reserve fund is functioning is the basis for the joint meeting.

Several homes have been built on Grove St. and at least one, with an 11-home potential, is being built on Woodcliff Ave.

Tentative proposals discussed by council include an agreement whereby the borough would loan the authority reserve fund sufficient funds to make extensions with the loan to be paid back on a stipulated basis when that fund begins to function.

One Possible Source

That proposal, plus the legal aspect involved, will be discussed at the joint meeting.

The borough still has authorization for $50,000 worth of bonds left over from previous sewer line extension issues floated before the authority came into being. This might provide one source of financing such a loan to the authority.

Engineer Edward C. Hess, at the direction of council, has completed a survey of costs of extending sanitary sewers to Grove St. and Woodcliff Ave.

Grove St. extension would cost approximately $7,000. There are now five homes built on Grove St. with an 11-home potential.

The Woodcliff Ave. sewer extension would cost about $4,500.

Council is anxious to establish the pattern for extensions so that proposed home building can proceed without putting the owner to the extra expense of installing a cess pool or septic tank, only to have sewer lines come along a few years later.

Board Okays Stroud Union Independence

THE MONROE COUNTY Board of School Directors gave its approval to a request for independent standing of the new Stroud Union School District yesterday afternoon.

In a special meeting called to consider the district's request, the county board voted to designate Stroud Union as an independent, third class school district.

Still necessary before the district's independence becomes final, however, is the approval of the State Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg. Protocol requires that the county board forward notice of its meeting and approval with a recommendation for similar action to the State.

Stroudsburg Independent

Once Harrisburg approval has been given Stroud Union will be completely divorced from the administrative jurisdiction of the office of County Superintendent of Schools John C. Litts.

One of the three districts which went into the Stroud Union was—and had been for years—an independent third class organization. This was Stroudsburg borough which had its own superintendent and administrative organization.

The two other districts—Stroud Township and Delaware Water Gap—came under the jurisdiction of the county school office as fourth class districts, however.

In order that the county board might give its consent a formal, written application for independence was needed. This request was read at yesterday's meeting. The letter was signed by Herbert B. Crane, union board secretary.

644 X-Rayed At Three Stops; Free Program Ends Saturday

A TOTAL OF 644 persons got free chest x-rays yesterday at Buck Hill Falls, Mountainhome and Echo Lake.

Yesterday's x-raying brought the total number of persons getting the free x-rays during the first three days of the one-week program up to 1,747. The x-ray program is being sponsored as a public service by the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society.

According to Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the Society, the mobile x-ray unit x-rayed 315 persons at The Inn, Buck Hill Falls; 165 at the Mountainhome YMCA branch building and 164 last night at Middle Smithfield Township School, Echo Lake.

Tamiment, Unity House

Today the unit, manned by State Department of Health technicians and assisted by local volunteers, will be at Camp Tamiment from 10 a.m. to noon and at Unity House, Forest Park from 2 to 4 p.m.

On Saturday all residents of the county who have not had a free chest x-ray in the current program and wish to have one are asked to stop at the mobile unit in front of Wyckoff's department store in Stroudsburg.

Hours for the unit's stay in front of Wyckoff's will be from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m.

The program continues through next Tuesday. It is sponsored by the TB and Health Society with the cooperation of the State Department of Health and the Monroe County Medical Society.

Communists Who May Be Exposed In Newspaper Field Are Beaten Easier

We are neither dismayed nor disturbed that the anti-Communist spotlight has focused on the newspaper profession, and that it shows that Communists infiltrated into it during the '30s and '40s.

It was perfectly natural for the Communists to concentrate on the fields of entertainment, information and education. That was the quick, the effective way to reach the masses with their message.

So they took jos in the book publishing houses, they became actors, directors and screen writers; they wrote magazine articles, and they became critics. Perhaps only one sentence in a whole book or play carried the Commie line. That was enough for the American Politburo. The seed had been sown.

And if the whole book or the whole movie was sympathetic to the cause of the Kremlin, why so much the better.

Certainly the Communists would not spare the newspaper industry. In fact, in view of the press' role in giving the people the facts on which to base their opinions, it is reasonable to believe that the Communists concentrated the hardest on newspapers.

The current Senate hearings show that the Commies made their inroads.

We're sorry that these hearings didn't take place earlier. The role of the Communists in the newspaper field should be exposed as thoroughly as the role of the Communists in any other field.

In the newspaper profession, as anywhere else, we can fight them better if we know how they operate.

Civil Defense Here, Elsewhere As Good As Our Outmoded Federal Law Structure

"The commission is convinced that Civil Defense is a national responsibility."

So is just about every other American, who took any kind of a look at the recent nation-wide Civil Defense exercises.

"If any one state fails to act, the default would do serious damage to other states and the nation as a whole," the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations declared.

We who live and work in Monroe County probably would carry that declaration one step further. "If any one city, any one county fails to act . . ." we would say.

We're thankful for small favors. We're thankful that in other cities, other counties, Civil Defense is more a thing of substance as it is here and not just a shadow we have in many areas.

But, along with other Americans, we have come to know that what is wrong with our present Civil Defense programs starts right at Washington. Our federal law under which it operates is hopelessly out of date. It was designed to provide a defense only against attack from bombs like those first A-bombs we dropped in the last days of World War II. Terrible as they were, they've been overwhelmingly shrouded by the new H-bombs.

The commission, first proposed by President Eisenhower and authorized by Congress, spells all of this out anew in one section of its far-ranging report, made public this week.

It calls for immediate revision of the Civil Defense law, with the federal government assuming the responsibility and providing the money.

Congress has been extremely slow to recognize this responsibility. So has the Executive Branch of our federal government.

The new call for action on Civil Defense, must be headed by President Eisenhower and the Congress.

George Sokolsky Says...

Burdett Confession's Value Is That It Opened Door To Clean Up An Ugly Spot

Since the early 1940's, there has been evidence that a small but extremely active group of Communists had found their way into some metropolitan newspapers and into radio. The proof was of a nature that could not stand up in a court of law and whenever a Congressional committee even looked at these organs of communication, it was faced by the dynamite of interfering with freedom of the press. The subject was carefully avoided. The politicians were afraid of it.

But the truth often comes out in the most unusual way. Winston Burdett, a C.B.S. commentator, has, for more than a year, been talking to some active anti-Communists on how a man goes about clearing his name and appeasing his conscience. He wanted to tell all but few would listen. He wanted to tell all unreservedly, giving to his country the entire sorry story of how young men, often idealistic, are sucked into a conspiracy against their own country. It is not an easy thing to do.

No one could charge Burdett with being a faceless informer or a professional witness. He had a job with the Columbia Broadcasting System which he could keep better by being quiet than he could by talking. No one had accused him of anything. In fact, when he began to tell his story, it looked as though he might be fired because of the publicity attending the disclosure of his record. It must be said for William Paley, the head of C.B.S., that he quickly realized that if Burdett were dismissed while he was talking, it would frighten others from making a clean breast of it. Paley kept Burdett on in spite of the fact that unfavorable publicity for C.B.S. was bound to result from his disclosures.

Winston Burdett and Charles Grutzner and other newspaper men who were carried away by the propaganda activities first of Heywood Broun and then of Simon Gerson, New York State Communist leader, once having been enmeshed in the toils of the Communist conspiracy, they found it difficult to free themselves. When this story is told in full, it will be clear that the lawyers for some of the newspapers that employed some of those mentioned by Burdett advised their clients to suppress the information and threatened to have the men fired if they confessed and mentioned names.

When newspapers accept the advice of lawyers on public relations, they go to the wrong place for wisdom and experience. The suppression of news, even when it hurts, is not the business of any newspaper. "The New York Times' 'would have shown a better face if it had fired those who were members of its Communist cell than it does today when the story about the cell broke as a part of Burdett's confession. "The New York Times" has known that at least two of its staff were involved weeks ago.

It is possible to draw false conclusions, however. Very few newspaper men in this country are Communists. A certain number joined the party when a Left-Wing element developed in the Newspaper Guild. Also some were Communists before they became newspaper men. Usually such men try to get copy-reading positions where they can slant the news, particularly by putting slanted headlines on correct stories. Too many publishers have taken a non-critical attitude toward such men, judging them on their merits as writers rather than on their ability as conspirators.

Some who were Left-Wingers when the Newspaper Guild was organized, by ability or seniority, have been able to move to executive positions where they can do great mischief, particularly in suppressing information unfavorable to their side or in ridiculing the opposition.

It would be incorrect to say that this is widespread over the country. It is correct to say that wherever these conditions exist, it is very harmful and damaging. It is also extremely difficult to prove that any of it is so, and publishers are loath to accuse men of being in a conspiracy when the information is nothing that could stand up in a court under the rules of evidence.

The value of the Burdett confession before the Eastland Committee is that it opens the door to a very ugly spot in radio and in the newspapers which now can be cleaned up. It also shows the importance of the ex-Communist in this fight.

Total membership of the more than 250 religious bodies of the United States amounted to 86.8 million in 1950, representing a gain of over 22 million in a decade.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

Something We Ate, No Doubt

This department can't dig the "file-and-forget" attitude by a U. S. Senator and a broadcasting system toward a highly educated American newspaper writer and airwave shaper of public opinion who admits that, despite being a beneficiary of all the American way could give him, he chose to be a spy for Russia in the free world's desperate hour. It would be easier to go along with this frame of mind only if we could laugh off a combat GI telling his top sarge on the eve of battle, "I feel emotionally impelled to identify myself with the other side. Pardon my dedication." Or if we could read of some illiterate hillbilly, brain-washed and tortured into the Red camp, getting cheered for telling the courts-martial, "Communism offered satisfaction to a man who worked hard for it. After all I only served it six years. Now that I'm coming clean—let's drop the matter."

This newsman was no half-educated guy suffering any hardships. His past was pretty certain to be revealed, if the FBI didn't know about it all along. It was refreshing to find a former Commie refusing to hide behind the Fifth Amendment. And it helps to name names in a fight for survival. Nevertheless it seems just as screwy to join in the clamor for his being kept on the job as it would seem to ask that all the lads named as fellow travelers be pardoned on the grounds that it was all a childhood error. This man was so smart he got through a Harvard four-year course a year under par, and its possible the trip was so fast he couldn't spare time for a jaunt to nearby Bunker Hill. We wouldn't know. Yeah, a college boy in his twenties can get things out of focus and go off half-cocked, but any kid graduated cum laude from a top university should be able to tell the difference between Magna Carta, the Bill of Rights and a blueprint for suppressing freedom. We all make mistakes and a life penalty is too much. But in a field where public opinion is being shaped there certainly is plenty of talent that has preferred "The Volga Boatmen" to "I Love America."

...man admits to a Senate committee that he was a zealous Russian spy from 1940 to 1942, even helping the Reds crucify brave little Finland. During that period came Dunkirk, the fall of France, the blitz of London and Coventry, the wolfpack battle of the Atlantic, the rape of Belgium, Pearl Harbor and the death of young men by the tens of thousands defending the free world way of life. This was the free world's ordeal by blood, sweat and tears. Yet during part of that period this man admits it was the Communist way that impelled him emotionally to work for the Reds all over Europe. "I thought intensely for things that were progressive," he says, "and the Communist party was the most progressive of all." (Awwah-h-h-h! Here was a cum laude sheepskin recipient, who knew no prison camps or torture and yet saw progress as represented under the four freedoms running second to the progress of a system featuring the purge, the firing squad, the slave camp and world spy rings!)

My America —by Harry Boyd

Public Spending Policies Never Seem To Hit Public

I can think of a dozen reasons why I ought to have a yacht. For instance:

This country around here may not always be high and dry. Geologists say it was covered with water at one time, and if it was covered with water once it could be covered with water again sometime. A fat chance a person would have getting around in an automobile then.

Moreover, if a man has his own yacht he is all set for something to do on vacations. He wouldn't be confronted every year with those exhausting discussions of where to go, what to do, how to line up satisfactory accommodations, etc. —discussions which have a tendency to become heated and conceivably could break up a family. That might condemn a man and his wife to a precarious and lonely life in their declining years and deprive the children of a wholesome home background, thus shoving them down the road to juvenile delinquency.

A yacht would come in handy for scouting around for column material. It would also make a nice, quiet place to write and to entertain potential clients. The operating costs doubtless could be classified as business expense, which might even cut down income tax liability to the point where the government would owe me money.

Owning a yacht does a lot for a person's prestige and makes other people more inclined to pay attention to what he says.

In the event of an atomic war there could hardly be a safer bomb shelter than a yacht cruising around in some unfrequented section of a small ocean, far beyond any likely fallout area. It might save a family from a Fate Worse than Death.

But the fact is I have been getting along without a yacht for more than half a century and I think it's highly unlikely that I'll ever buy one, much as I need it.

The main reason is that I'd have to spend my own money for it and I have a number of more pressing needs on which to spend my money. Especially the money I haven't got yet.

That's fairly sensible figuring. Isn't it? And I suspect it's about the same conclusion any other average citizen would reach on the private yacht question.

What beats me is why the average citizen so often figures things an entirely different way when thinking of proposed new governmnt services, or expansions of old ones.

There are always plenty of reasons why we ought to have almost any given public service—some of them more persuasive than the reasons why I ought to have a yacht, even.

Yet the odd thing is that, in the realm of public policy, we so seldom subordinate those reasons to the cold fact that there are more pressing uses for the money. Maybe those big figures make us dizzy.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Groucho Marx met an honest-to-Hemingway bull fighter and asked him, "How many bulls do you figure you've met?" "Two hundred, Senor," smirked the matador. "You surely must be the envy of every cow in Mexico," marveled Marx.

Groucho had another experience, this time at the Louvre in Paris. His last cigar slipped out of his hands and was promptly mashed to a pulp by the crowd. "Hell," grumbled the Grouch—with which a French radio announcer stepped up and handed him a box of Havanas. "Congratulations," beamed the radioman. "That ees the meestery word for thees week."

In Red Springs, N. C., Flora Perry, Librarian of the exclusive Floga McDonald College for the cream of Southern womanhood, noticed that an old Negro in the beautiful gardens always was on the job a full hour before any of his fellows. It was no urge to better his position in life, he hastened to explain to Miss Perry. "No ma'am," he continued. "I just likes to breathe air early before other folks have a chance to be sniffin' off'n it."

Robert S. Allen Reports

Virtually Official That Ike Will Be 56 Candidate

Washington, July 8 — It is now virtually official that President Eisenhower will run again.

Members of the President's family are privately putting out that inside word.

For the first time, they are saying without equivocation of any kind that the President will seek a second term in 1956.

Significantly, George Allen is now also talking the same way.

The genial Gettysburg neighbor and golf and bridge crony of the President has become very positive that he will be a candidate to succeed himself.

Previously, members of the President's family and Allen were either uncertain or noncommittal about this. They wouldn't talk, or would frankly say they didn't know. But their attitude is entirely different now. They are very definite that the President has made up his mind to run again in 1956.

Following is what one close relative is saying:

"Last winter, Ike was set against four more years in the White House. He felt strongly that he and Mamie had had enough, and that they should retire to private life and quiet and ease. But he's not talking that way any more. Ike has undergone a profound change of heart and view. He is thinking and planning very differently than he was six months ago.

"Ike now considers it imperative that nothing be left to chance to ensure the completion of the two great goals of his Administration—world peace and the stabilization of U. S. economy on a sound peacetime basis. He feels additional time is necessary to fully realize this historic mission, and he has never shirked duty, however difficult it may be. Personally, he and Mamie would prefer calling it quits after this term, but duty to their country comes first above everything else with them."

This authoritative inside word is apparently fully known to key Republican leaders.

National Chairman Leonard Hall and the Senate and House GOP Campaign Committees are basing all their 1956 plans, including the convention in San Francisco, on the President's heading the ticket again.

Crux of this extensive planning is a huge radio and TV campaign, certain aspects of which are already underway.

Politicals—Senator Estes Kefauver investigated other matters besides juvenile delinquency during his recent Hollywood foray. The Tennessean also did some quiet political probing, and is convinced he can capture the California delegation to the Democratic convention, as he did four years ago. Kefauver has about decided to try for the 1956 nomination, and is thinking and planning in terms of getting his campaign underway this coming fall . . . Arkansas' former Governor Sid McMath is under strong pressure to run for Congress, particularly by advocates of public power and rural electrification. He is a vigorous champion of both, and two years ago made an unsuccessful try for the Senate on such a platform . . . The Associated Stevenson Clubs of America are starting to stoke up their fires again. The organization, which claims 400 clubs throughout the country, has a new national chairman and a new New York address. The latter is Post Office Box 56, New York 56, N. Y., and the former is Edward Preston, 300-pound Montana rancher and oilman, who also has large holdings in Nevada and Texas. . . James M. Mead, one-time Democratic Senator from New York, who recently completed a six-year term as Federal Trade Commissioner, may run for his old House seat from Buffalo. He says he is being urged to do that by local Democratic leaders.

GOP Politicals—White House insiders are doing some highly significant private talking about Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr. They are hinting the able and popular Californian may be the President's running mate next year—if it is decided to shift Vice President Nixon to another office. There has been increasing talk of that possibility among inner GOP chiefs, particularly in the White House . . . Washington State's Governor Arthur Langley has promised Senate Republican leaders he will run against Democratic Senator Warren Magnuson next year, if President Eisenhower heads the GOP ticket. As that is now certain, Langley will challenge Magnuson and give him a tough fight . . . Governor Hall will not oppose Senator Frank Carlson (R., Kans.) next year, although under strong pressure to do so. Hall says he hasn't finished the job of "cleaning up Kansas politics" and needs another term as Governor to do that. But Carlson still faces likely vigorous opposition inside the GOP. Foremost possibilities against him are State Supreme Court Justice William Smith and former Justice Hugo Wedell, who voluntarily retired from the bench last winter . . . William Sinnott, 37-year-old former assistant chief investigator of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, has been made a member of Nevada's new gambling control board. Although hailing from Lansdale, Pa., Sinnott was appointed to the $15,000-a-year job by Governor Charles Russell, because of service in the FBI and with the Appropriations Committee.

Telephone experts are already hinting that technological advances may enable the subscriber to get a number by merely speaking it, without dialing and without human intervention.

Rabbits Breeding Studies

—by H. G. Heller

Glenn L. Bowers of the Research Division of the Game Commission wrote a treatise titled "Unusual Breeding of Cottontails in Pennsylvania." It appeared in the May issue of the Journal of Mammalogy, published by the American Society of Mammalogists. In his account Bowers said:

"In Pennsylvania the usual nesting period for the cottontails begins in March and extends through September. Reports of births that occurred immediately preceding or following this period have occasionally been received. Many of the records of late breeding have come from hunters who shot pregnant cottontails during the open hunting season in November.

"In 1952, because of drought conditions, the opening of the small game season was delayed, and a few replacement days of hunting were permitted late in December. On December 27, 1952, a cottontail carrying five embryos in an advanced state of development was shot on the Letterkenny Ordnance Depot in Franklin County. It is estimated that these cottontails would have been born about January 3, 1953. On January 7, 1954, while trapping cottontails for transfer from the above area, a pregnant female was observed.

"Among sportsmen and biologists there has been considerable controversy concerning cottontails producing young during the calendar year of their birth. Pennsylvania studies have indicated that this takes place infrequently — probably during 'high' rabbit years only. During 1953 extremely large numbers of cottontails were produced on the Letterkenny Ordnance Depot. Throughout most of Pennsylvania cottontail production was higher than in any of the several previous years. During the course of a summer investigation of juvenile mortality five cottontails of the year were noted to have been pregnant. The earliest observation . . . was on July 22, 1953. Two observations were recorded in August and two on October 2, 1953."

Riding Deer

Says the Lehigh County Game Protector, William A. Moyer, "Allentown residents going to work the morning of June 18th were startled to see a deer in front of the liquor store at 10th and Hamilton Streets. The frightened and exhausted animal was caught, after quite a tussle, by the Allentown police. It was tied in a basket stretcher and was undoubtedly the first deer to have a ride in the 'paddy wagon.' The deer was released in nearby mountain country. It gave no indication it appreciated the ride."

The Headliners

The inspiring tributes extended to Helen Keller (on her 75th birthday) are exceeded by her magnificent personalp triumph. She touched a star she was unable to see and its radiance guided others . . . Deprived of sight and sound, Helen Keller shattered the barriers and not only reached the world — but also its heart. The eloquent simplicity of her philosophy is worth pondering: "I am not an optimist; there's too much evil in the world and in me. Nor am I a pessimist; there is too much good in the world and in God. I believe that He wills to make the world better, and I try to do my bit to help and wish that it were more."

Mark Twain once said: "If you desire to discover the world Helen Keller lives in—try getting up some dark night on the wrong side of your bed when the house is on fire and try to find the door."

It might fascinate the Big Four chiefs to study one of the more profound international events: Noel Coward's history-making invasion and conquest of Vegas. Functioning as one of Great Britain's major exports, the Droll One's triumph among the crap-shooters and slot-machines attracted more newspaper space than his numerous plays, songs and books . . . For a reported $10,000 weekly (and an actual $20,000) Noel enchanted the native buck-riskers. The torrent of words concerning this obviously momentous incident was transcended by Coward's one-word explanation when an interviewer inquired, "Why did you come to Las Vegas?"

Noel's memorable response: "Money."

One of the most closely guarded secrets of the 20th Century has been Grace Kelly's standard statistics—bust, waist, hips. There have been various guesstimates. Grace, however, refuse to divulge the facts. When a reporter wanted the world to know whether or not she wears nightgowns she was forthright: "I think it's nobody's business what I wear to bed."

Her attitude is revolutionary—in Movieland. She believes that talent is the sole requisite for stardom.

Several months ago one of her friends was quoted: "Here, for the first time in history, is a babe that Hollywood can't get to. Can't touch her with money—can't touch her with big names. Only thing they can offer her is good parts."

Barrett Plans 'One And Done' Fund Campaign

THE BARRETT Welfare Fund will open its annual fund campaign July 15 with one significant change —every agency seeking funds is to be included in this one effort.

Under a letter signed by Herbert A. Lorenz, president of the Barrett Welfare Fund, there will be one, and only one campaign for funds. Citizens are advised that polio, heart, cancer and Red Cross have been invited to participate in the one campaign.

"Independent drives for funds will not have the support of the Barrett Welfare Fund," the letter emphasizes. It adds:

"Our first obligation is to the citizens of Barrett Township. We do not resent the generosity of those in our community who give to outside activities. However, funds, so contributed should be credited to Barrett quotas."

Closes Aug. 15

The campaign, under the management of Joseph J. Vogt of Mountainhome will conclude Aug. 15.

Currently, the concern is to obtain a large group of volunteer workers for the one-and-done campaign effort.

Barrett citizens should contact Mr. Vogt for volunteer work during the one-month effort to discharge the work of meeting financial requirements of the single, united campaign.

New York Plans Garden For Blind

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — New York's Park Department is setting aside half an acre in Central Park for a "fragrance and touch" garden for the blind.

The garden will have special paths easy for blind people to follow, and play-by-touch chess and checker tables. Plantings of flowers to be picked and crushed for fragrance by the fingers are planned.

THE AMERICAN Red Cross has nearly two million volunteer workers.

Anti-Slug Law Is Out-Of-Date

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP) — Apparently the law against using slugs in vending machines hasn't kept up with the times. And Rep. Hyde (R-Md) has asked Congress to do something about it. He said the present federal law prohibits passing off slugs for 1 cent, 2 cents, 3 cents and 5 cents but it doesn't mention larger coins.

OWNERSHIP of a Wall St. lot in Tobyhanna village has been transferred to St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church, according to a deed filed yesterday at the office of Floyd Butz, register of wills and recorder.

Making the transfer were Catherine M. Hennessey and Walter Hennessey, her husband, of Bronx, N.Y.C. Named trustee of the property for the congregation of the church was Rev. Jerome D. Hannan, bishop of the Scranton diocese.

Bishop Hannan, as diocesan head, was the grantor in another property transfer according to a second deed filed at the office yesterday. The deed showed transfer of two lots on Prospect St. in Tobyhanna village by Bishop Hannan to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Rice, Tobyhanna.

Other deeds filed showed these property transfers:

School Administrators Take Part In Sessions On Music Instruction At Waring's Workshop

WEDNESDAY was "Administrators' Day" at Fred Waring Music Workshop in Delaware Water Gap.

School administrators from all parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, New Jersey and the New England states attended the day-long session which was part of this week's 40-hour course in elementary music education.

Among those attending were superintendents and assistants from Monroe County, including Carl T. Secor and Ralph O. Burrows from East Stroudsburg; Earl F. Groner, Alfred W. Munson and Roger Dunning from Stroudsburg.

One highlight of the program was a demonstration of teaching techniques and skills by Fred Waring. Waring used a junior high school chorus to illustrate approaches to conducting choral music and teaching for younger groups.

Music For Children

The day's program opened at 9 a.m. with a session on "Music For Children." In charge of this session were Mrs. Sally Tobin Dietrich, director of vocal music in the South Side Junior-Senior High School in Rockville Centre, N. Y., and Mrs. Edna Doll, director of rhythms and dance at Clifford Scott High School in E. Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Dietrich and Mrs. Doll were among those taking part in the 10 a.m. session on "Music In the Classroom," which followed the opening period. Others were James E. Green, and Francis Fox, music consultants for the Silver Burdett music publishing company.

Edward McGinley, author and teacher, from Short Hills, N. J., whose piano teaching techniques have earned for him a nationwide reputation, conducted a session on "Musicianship Through Piano Keyboard Experiences" at 11 a.m.

During the afternoon a panel discussion on "What Kind of Music Program Should We Have In the Elementary Schools?" was the closing session. Panel members were the following: Dr. Roscoe L. West, president of State Teachers College, Trenton, N. J., moderator; Mrs. Mary Livingstone, supervisor of instruction in the Armonk, N. Y., schools; Dr. Richard F. McNichols, superintendent of schools in Scranton; Dr. Ray A. Miller, dean of Fairleigh Dickinson College, Rutherford, N. J.; Miss Elizabeth Sonier, supervisor of music in Winsted, Conn., schools; Mrs. Elizabeth K. Streeter, an instructor in music in the Central Schools system, Horseheads, N. Y., and Mrs. Jayne Urban, elementary supervisor in North Canton, Ohio.

Place For Non-Singer

No hard and fast rule on the "kind" of music for grade schools came out of the panel discussion—but those attending heard a spirited discussion from the audience and panel members alike on the merits of various types of music and methods of instruction.

Much of the discussion centered on the "non-singer," whose monotone makes it difficult to find a spot for him in the chorus. Methods of handling the "non-singer" discussed during the panel period ranged from barring the child from choral work to admitting all children, singers or not, on the grounds that the child's musical inclinations need and should have encouragement.

Wednesday night, Frank Davis, a featured member of the Pennsylvanians, gave a voice recital for the group attending this week's course. Davis' recital was followed by a session on creative music on the elementary school level by Harry Simeone, one of the top arrangers in the Waring organization.

Delinquency Blame Placed On Parents

"TOO MANY children of today become problems and delinquents because of improper example and direction of parents," a Seventh-day Adventist educationalist leader said yesterday at Emmanuel Grove, Wescoville.

Speaking at a program of the annual ten-day Bible Conference and camp meeting of the East Pennsylvania Conference of Adventists, L. R. Callender, of Reading, asserted that religious training in the home is essential in the raising of children.

"Adult education is a definite and concrete part of child training," he said. "The example of a parent is the most striking influence in the early life of the child."

Callender, educational secretary of the East Pennsylvania Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, spoke at the youth session of the conference. He put much of the blame for juvenile delinquency on parents "who do one thing and tell the children to do another."

Suggested Pattern

"Parents need to cultivate in themselves patterns of honesty, sincerity and right living," he said. "This will challenge the child's emulation."

"It is only in the example and right living in the home on the part of the parent that the child will find a dynamic impulse for his or her own wholesome development into a good citizen," he declared.

The main speaker tonight is Frederick Lee, an associate editor of the Review and Herald, official newspaper of the church. Other high-ranking officials of the church are expected to attend the encampment including W. H. Shephard, president of Washington Missionary College which is operated by the Adventists; and Carl Sundin, placement director for the College of Medical Evangelists located in California.

Profit-Selling Tumbles Stocks Off High Peak

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — The stock market tumbled from its record high perch today as the lure of fat profits brought on widespread selling.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $2.50, biggest fall since March 14. It closed at $173.90. The industrial component was down $4.50 while railroads lost $1.90 and utilities remained unchanged.

Down were steels, oils, airlines, movie issues, coppers, rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals, distillers, and radio-televisions.

Utilities were steady. Motors, surprisingly enough, did well outside of General Motors.

General Motors topped the most active list off 2⅞ on volume of 102,500 shares. It was in the number one spot yesterday.

The market was quite broad with 1,239 indiidual issues traded. Losers outnumbered gainers almost four to one with 214 up and 833 down. New highs were reached by 45 stocks while 33 hit new lows.

Volume mounted to 3,300,000 shares as compared with 3,140,000 shares yesterday.

The American Stock Exchange was lower. Volume came to 990,000 shares as against 1,000,000 shares traded yesterday. The bond market was lower. U. S. governments traded over the counter were mostly steady.

East-West Religious Amity Nearer

By George W. Cornell

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — Religious doors between the East and the West today are opening wider.

Church leaders, like their political counterparts, are finding that some of the old barriers are down, at least for the time being.

On both sides of the Iron Curtain there have been new stirrings of religious amity.

This month, while chiefs of state of the Communist and free worlds sit in conference, Russian and Western churchmen also will be exchanging hospitality.

Some Deep Gulfs

The increased East-West church contacts have come only gradually and there still are deep gulfs, particularly those cutting off Roman Catholic liaison with brethren in the Soviet orbit.

But for other churches, gaps have appeared in the onetime wall of silence. Channels, once closed, have opened. A procession of church emissaries have moved back and forth across the boundary.

This week, a delegation from Russia's Orthodox Church arrives in Great Britain at the invitation of the British Council of Churches for a fortnight stay.

Patriarch Alexei of Moscow said the visit was being made "in love."

Its purpose, he said, is for "further strengthening Christians of our two countries and of achieving greater mutual understanding between us."

Turnpike Sets Two Records

HARRISBURG, July 7 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said today that two records were established on the toll road over the Fourth of July weekend.

A total of 295,222 vehicles used the 360-mile superhighway over the four-day period producing the biggest traffic flow in the 15-year history of the road. The previous high of 271,179 was recorded during the last Memorial Day weekend.

Cadillac

One Thing Men Agree Upon!

It is in the nature of things for men to hold opinions and to argue and dispute.

Football, baseball, politics—guns, golf clubs, breeds in dogs . . . name a best, and you have an argument.

And so it goes through boats and trains—and horses and tennis and makes of planes.

But when it comes to motor cars, you'll seldom get an argument if you name CADILLAC as the car of cars.

That's just about as close as men can come to universal agreement. And with good reason.

Who could look about him at the various styles in motor cars—and not give the nod to Cadillac for its great dignified silhouette?

Who could take the wheel of this dynamic performer—with a hundred horsepower added to its engine for safety alone—and not crown it the king of the highway?

Who could relax in its luxurious comfort for a mile or five hundred—and fail to recognize it as the finest riding car on the world's highways?

And who could look back over its illustrious past—or look about him at the people who own it and drive it today—and not acclaim it as the most distinguished motor car in the whole automotive world?

We feel assured that you are aware that Cadillac is the car of cars. But that is but part of the wonderful Cadillac story.

There are economy—and value—and dependability. There are long life—and resale value—and freedom from repairs. And there are all the other sound, practical reasons for owning a Cadillac.

Come in and see us. We'll be only too happy to give you the whole story—and the keys to a car. Thirty minutes at the wheel . . . and you'll understand why there's no argument about a Cadillac!

Northeast Pennsylvania Poultrymen To Convene July 16

Assistant Ag Secretary To Be Speaker

A NATIVE of Tioga County who is now a high Washington official will be the speaker at the northeast Pennsylvania Poultry Producers, Inc., annual meeting in Tunkhannock, Saturday, July 16. He is James A. McConnell, assistant secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Mr. McConnell will speak at the chicken barbecue at 7 p.m.

Born on the family farm at Mansfield, Mr. McConnell attended the schools there and was graduated from the College of Agriculture at Cornell University in 1921. He has been an instructor in animal husbandry at Cornell, a practical farmer, and from 1922 to February 1954 an employe of the Cooperative GLF Exchange.

Working for GLF first as a district manager and successively as mills superintendent, head of the dairy feed service, manager of wholesale operations, and acting general manager, he became general manager in 1937.

Appointed By Benson

After 15 years as general manager, Mr. McConnell was elected to executive vice-president in October 1952. In this capacity he was GLF's chief policy officer, dealing with the political, economic and governmental forces which had their effects upon GLF.

In February 1954, Mr. McConnell was appointed administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture by Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

A nationally recognized authority on the feed industry and agricultural economics, Mr. McConnell is a director of a number of business, agricultural and educational organizations, including the Foundation for American Agriculture and the Farm Foundation. He is a trustee of Cornell University, a director of the Tompkins County Trust Co., a director of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and a trustee of the Foundation for Economic Education.

Mr. McConnell owns and operates a large dairy and poultry farm at Mansfield. The McConnells at present are living in Washington, D. C.

Thin Cucumbers, Melons, Squash

VINE CROPS do best if thinned to two to three plants in the hill or to stand at 12 to 15 inches in a row, thinner for bush squash. One plant to a hill is enough.

To thin vine crops, pinch or cut off the plants to be discarded. Do not pull them out by the roots, especially if the plants are close together in the hill. Pulling a plant disturbs the roots of nearby plants which are to remain.

Plants so disturbed may wilt or die. It takes time for vine crops to replace broken roots. Pull extra soil toward the plant immediately after thinning.

Curtains Shrink

TO MAKE sure curtains fit windows after washing, choose them 3 inches longer than the final length you want.

Agriculture Department Seeking Broadened Powers To Set Up Free Market Wheat Areas

By Richard L. Graves

HARRISBURG, July 7 (AP) — The U. S. Agriculture Department is seeking congressional action to allow the USDA broader powers in designating free market wheat production areas.

New emphasis on such action followed the June 25 national wheat referendum in which farmers in the so-called commercial wheat growing areas favored marketing quotas on the 1956 wheat crop.

Some 36 states are included in the commercial wheat producing area, counting Pennsylvania. In the nationwide referendum the vote was 77½ per cent in favor of marketing quotas, though in Pennsylvania only 32 per cent of thefarmers eligible to vote in the refendum favored marketing quotas.

Support Price Set

The result means next year's wheat crop will be supported at 76 per cent of parity, or $1.81 a bushel, national average. It also means strict marketing penalties will be imposed on farmers who exceed their wheat acreage allotments as prescribed by county agricultural stabilization and conservation committees.

However, the USDA, as part of a five-point program it announced along with the wheat referendum results, wants to broaden the non-commercial areas. In these areas growers are not subject to acreage control and their price supports are ¾ the rate that applies in the commercial areas. This gives them a free market, but lower supports.

It is felt by many observers that Pennsylvania would be re-designated a non-commercial area if Congress gives the USDA authority to shuffle the non-commercial and commercial regions.

17,000 Growers Eligible

This is mainly because of the strong rejection of marketing quotas and their accompanying acreage allotments and penalties by Pennsylvania farmers for the past three years.

Of Pennsylvania's 83,000 wheat growers, only 17,000 grow 15 or more acres of wheat—the minimum acreage under the government's acreage allotment and marketing quota program. The remaining 66,000 wheat growers do not come under any federal wheat regulations.

Other features of the program would:

1. Place discounts on some varieties of wheat, especially those suitable primarily for feed purposes. This is an effort to improve wheat crop quality.

Penalties Provided

2. Continue efforts to get congressional approval to exempt wheat growers from marketing quota penalties if all wheat produced on their farms is used for feed or seed. At present farmers must pay penalties for excess wheat production.

3. Extend special durum wheat acreage provisions. Despite excessive supplies of wheat, durum wheat—used for spaghetti and macaroni—is in short supply and the shortage is expected to continue.

4. Work out a new program of land-use adjustments to have farmers shift from wheat production to hay or pasture.

Potato Field Day

The state's leading potato growers will gather at Potato City, Potter County, at the end of this month for their annual field days exposition.

Among the many demonstrations at the annual event will be plowing, fitting, planting, cultivating, spraying and digging.

The two-day meeting, to be held this year July 27-28, will also feature a list of social and sports events, including a horseshoe pitching contest and a potato picking contest.

Conservation Program Gets $250 Million

ACTING Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse yesterday said the 1956 National Agricultural Conservation Program, under provisions of which ACP shares with farmers and ranchers a part of the cost of certain conservation practices performed on their land, will conduct operations on the basis of a $250 million fund recently authorized by Congress.

Conservation practices to be included in a county program vary with requirements of various communities, and are determined (within the framework of the national program) by local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees, of which the county agricultural extension agent usually is an ex-officio member, in cooperation with local representatives of the Soil Conservation Service. These agencies develop county programs after obtaining advice and suggestions from other agricultural groups within a county.

The 1956 national program is similar to the current one, with modifications which are expected to make it more effective in helping farmers meet conservation problems on individual farms. Emphasis is placed on enduring conservation practices, but assistance is not limited to such practices, and special emphasis is to be given to measures which will protect land diverted from allotment crops in 1956.

Program funds for carrying out these practices under the 1956 program have not been allocated to individual states, but it is expected that Pennsylvania will receive approximately 4.8 million dollars. This figure is about the same as the funds that are available under the 1955 program.

Eggs For Market

IF YOU ARE producing eggs for a local market, you can arrange the production schedule to fit the needs. One flock hatched in winter and another flock hatched in June can help equalize the monthly production.

RHUBARB seed stalks waste food reserves, weaken the plants, and reduce the number and quality of edible stalks, the plants produce. They should be cut off as soon as they appear.

Henning Appointed Chairman For Farm Safety Week In Pennsylvania July 24-30

HARRISBURG, July 7—The Pennsylvania Rural Safety Council has named Dr. William L. Henning, state secretary of agriculture, to serve as Pennsylvania State Chairman for National Farm Safety Week, July 24-30.

Secretary Henning today said the slogan for Farm Safety Week this year is "Your Safety Is in Your Hands."

In setting up the program for observance of the week, he suggested that rural ministers might use a theme based on reverence of life in their sermons on Sunday, July 24. Sunday School teachers also might desire to stress safety by emphasizing that farm and other workers take time to be safe in their daily activities on the farm and on the highways.

Different Themes

A different safety theme is suggested for observance each day during the week so that farm workers might form habits of safety that they could observe every day in the year, Dr. Henning said.

Home safety is to be stressed on Monday, July 25. Members of farm families are asked to consider the need for eliminating unsafe practices and conditions in the home. Good housekeeping—with a place for everything and everything in its place—is to be stressed.

Animals account for one out of every four work accidents on farms, so Tuesday is to be observed as livestock safety day. It is the time to check and repair livestock equipment and the handling of all animals, especially when children are near.

Less Haste

Good planning reduces the temptation to hurry and means better production and fewer accidents. Falls account for a high percentage of accidental deaths and Wednesday of Farm Safety Week is set aside to stress the importance of keeping floors, steps, ladders and other equipment in repair.

Highway traffic safety is the theme on Thursday and the safe handling of farm machinery and other equipment will be emphasized on Friday. Highway courtesy and the need for guards on machines and the safe handling of farm tractors will come in for attention on these days. Saturday, July 30, is review day for all farm safety practices.

Secretary Henning said that farm leaders and others will have special safety messages during the week, one for each day, stressing the theme for that day.

Dr. Chester Dale To Retire From University Post

UNIVERSITY PARK, July 7 — One of the nation's leading authorities in the field of dairy manufacturing will retire with emeritus rank on Aug. 1.

He is Dr. Chester D. Dahle, professor of dairy manufacturing at the Pennsylvania State University since 1924.

Dr. Dahle in 1947 received the coveted Borden Award in Dairy Manufacturing for outstanding research work in the manufacture of ice cream, cheese, and other dairy products.

The first work done in the field of high-temperature short-time pasteurization of ice cream mixes was done by Dr. Dahle in 1931. Within the last five years, this system has been adopted by many of the large ice cream plants in this country. His research has also been concerned with flavor and texture of ice cream and he was the first to discover the air cells in milk powder globules.

Dr. Dahle invented the Duo-Visco Homogenizer Valve which now is widely used in the homogenization of ice cream mixes, and with Dr. George H. Watrous, of the Penn State faculty, discovered a new method for making a grating type cheese.

Although meteorites have been observed for thousands of years, it was not until 1803 that modern astronomers were convinced that they reach the earth from outer space.

Panel Chosen For Discussion On Dairy Days

SEVEN PANEL members have been selected for the milk control discussion at the second annual Dairy Days July 28-29 at Pennsylvania State University, according to an announcement by County Agent A. E. Ifft. This discussion will feature the program starting at 8 p.m., July 28.

Topic for the panel will be "The Effect of Federal and State Milk Control in Pennsylvania." The moderator will be Dr. William F. Johnstone, extension agricultural economist at the university.

As last year, when the initial Dairy Day featured a salute to Prof. R. H. Olmstead who was then retiring as head of dairy extension, Dairy Days are being sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association and the College of Agriculture at the university.

Seven On Panel

Charles E. Cowan, Lancaster, secretary of the association, has just announced the panel members. They are:

Dr. Bruce Baldwin, president, Milk Industry Foundation, Washington, D. C.

Stanley H. Benham, treasurer, Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., New York.

O. H. Hoffman, Jr., general manager, Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative, Philadelphia.

Louis S. Iverson, market administrator, Federal Order 61, Philadelphia.

Joab Mahood, chairman Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission, Harrisburg.

Dr. C. W. Pierce, professor of agricultural economics at Penn State.

George A. Taylor, secretary-manager, Dairymen's Cooperative Association, Pittsburgh.

Discussion will be on a question and answer basis, the questions coming from the audience, and from panel members who will have opportunity to direct questions to each other.

Slight Increase For Milk Seen

New York, July 7—Dr. C. J. Blanford, Market Administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, forecast a slight increase in farm milk prices and in production for the last half of the year.

In his semiannual estimate, Dr. Blanford said that uniform prices to farmers in the New York milkshed are expected to average six cents per hundred weight (46.5 quarts) more this year than they did in the last six months of 1954. Prices paid by handlers for fluid milk (Class I-A) should average five cents per hundredweight over last year, he predicted, and production probably will be less than two percent above a year ago.

The administrator said it appears the uniform price would be lower than a year ago in only one month. That will be in October when the price is expected to be only one cent per hundredweight less than for the same 1954 month. The highest increase for a single month is foreseen as 14 cents in September. He expects nine-cent gains in July and August and one-cent gains in November and December.

THE GREEN THUMB

Trim Mums For Blooms In Fall; Sweet Corn Needs Nitrogen For Good Ears

GARDEN MUMS: The Green Thumb has been asked why it is that the mums which ordinarily bloom in the fall, have already bloomed for many. This is known as "precocious blooming" and the trouble can be attributed to short days and hot temperatures. It's a common occurrence in hot weather.

Remedy. About the first week in July you cut the entire top of the plant off at the surface of the soil. New shoots will grow fast, and even though the plants will look pretty sad when first cut off, they usually make ample growth and produce an abundance of flowers by the end of September or October 1st.

Late Blooms

Another problem many of us are up against: "How can we make mums bloom before frost comes?" Many varieties are late bloomers so your No. 1 job is to insist on earlier flowering types. Many mums can be brought into flower earlier by shortening the day artificially through the use of shade. If you allow them to get less than 14 hours of daylight, they will bloom early. But don't shorten the day after the buds are formed; this will delay their flowering.

But black sateen cloth over mums now, and leave it on from 5 p.m. until 7 a.m. Stop shading just as soon as the buds show a bit of color. FREE: Having trouble with your garden mums? Then send The Green Thumb, Naples, N.Y., a self-addressed envelope for a copy of our brand new bulletin, "How to Doctor Your Chrysanthemums", a guide which lists all the diseases and insects on mums, and gives the latest control measures. No postal cards, no clippings, or loose stamps. Please send a complete, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Sweet Corn

Sweet Corn: How does your corn grow? Leaves yellowish? That means a shortage of nitrogen, usually, and you can overcome this by sidedressing the corn rows with some ordinary fertilizer. Just apply it along the row The extra nitrogen will produce a dark green color husks and leaves, and will produce ears that are more attractive.

Why coined names: We've been asked why gardeners have to struggle with such names as Captan, glyodin, or ferbam. These names of new chemicals are coined names, being short and easy to read and pronounce. If we had to read or pronounce the real names of these new pesticides, we'd all stumble. For example, Captan, a fungicide we mention often, has the jaw-breaking name of N - (trichloromethyltio) - 4-cyclohexene-1, 2 - dicarboximide. This has all been shortened to Captan a coined name to simplify and avoid confusion.

Cull Hens, Then Combine Pens

AS LAYING pen numbers are reduced by early summer culling of the poultry flock, combine adjoining pens to save labor, suggests County Agent A. E. Ifft. Merely leave a door open between pens. Hens will go from pen to pen and within a week can be confined to one pen without loss of egg production.

The empty pens can be cleaned and made ready for the new pullets.

Tomatoes Crack

TOMATOES with growth cracks in the skin won't keep long, but they are good when used right away, Helen L. Denning, Penn State extension nutritionist, reports.

Choose Melons

WHEN A MELON is dead ripe and ready to eat, the odor it diffuses is usually stronger and very noticeable, says Elsie Bamesberger, Penn State extension consumer education specialist.

Cherry Crop Over Average

HARRISBURG, July 7 — The tempo of activities is stepping up in the many fruit and vegetable canning and freezing plants in Pennsylvania, the State Department of Agriculture reported today.

Biggest operations at processing plants between July 5 and July 20 will be on the near-record red sour cherry crop. Federal-State estimates are for a crop of 11,000 tons, only 1,000 tons under the all-time record set in 1951.

About 75 per cent of the crop now being picked will be processed, the greater portion being of the Montmorency variety to be canned for red cherry pies and pie mixes.

This year's red cherry production in Pennsylvania is estimated to be 1,500 tons greater than last year and nearly 4,000 tons above the 5-year 1949-53 average, the department said. Out of last year's 9,500 tons, 76 per cent was canned or frozen with relatively small quantities turned into juice, jam or jelly.

Sprays Needed

DO NOT LET late blight get started in your potato field. Nabam and zineb spray materials will give 5- to 7-day protection, and fixed copper will protect the plants at least a week. Bordeaux mixture lasts slightly longer.

Golf Driving Range Opens Just West Of Stroudsburg

THE LONG BALL hitters can practice hitting even longer drives, and the dubbers can polish up their form and distance at a new Golf Driving Range along 209, just one quarter of a mile west of Stroudsburg.

Dick Aiken of Gilbert just opened the range on an ideal flat surface with a background of shade for those who like to sharpen up their ability to make a golf ball behave.

Aiken has installed a "golf shop" which houses a large line of drivers. Hundreds of golf balls, driving brushes, a white stone "tee" and handy box holders for golf balls have been installed.

Markers range from 50 yards to 250 yards. The business operates from 3 p. m. to midnight. Ample lighting has been installed for night driving.

HAROLD A. SWENSON, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, warns homeowners in this area to be on guard against the furnace repair racket which is revived annually at about this time.

In issuing this seasonal caution, Mr. Swenson emphasized that, according to the National Better Business Bureau with which the Chamber is affiliated, the great majority of firms engaged in furnace cleaning and repairing service are entirely reliable and it is only a minority in this business who use dishonest practices.

The text of Mr. Swenson's statement follows:

"1. Before permitting anyone posing as an official governmental or utility company inspector to check your furnace for fire and gas hazards, insist upon seeing his credentials. If he has any official capacity, he should be glad to establish it to your satisfaction. If he fails to do so, report the incident to the Chamber of Commerce.

"2. Know your dealer. If the reliability of anyone who solicits your furnace business is unknown to you, check it. Any reliable contractor will be glad to give you the names of people in or near your neighborhood for whom he has worked. If in doubt, call the Chamber of Commerce.

"3. If you are told by anyone who has contracted to service your furnace that it is beyond repair and needs replacement, check this information with a qualified heating engineer. If you do, in fact, need a new furnace, give the matter the same prudent consideration you would in making any major purchase. Don't act hastily. Get estimates. Make sure you buy the furnace you believe best suited to your purse and purpose.

"4. Read and understand your contract BEFORE you sign it and keep a copy. If it is for a new installation, make sure that all of the conditions have been written into the contract.

"5. Get guarantees or service warrantles in writing.

"6. Do not sign a completion certificate until the job has been finished.

Chamberlain-Redclift Wedding

Miss Edith Anne Redcliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Redcliff of Maple Hill, Shenandoah, Pa., became the bride of John William Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Chamberlain of Delaware Water Gap, on July 2 at 12 noon at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Mahanoy City. Rev. D. Horton Nace performed the ceremony.

Soprano soloist, Miss Kathy Mertz, of Nazareth, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because". The traditional wedding music was played by Charles Wagner, organist of the church. Decorations were of white carnations, gladiolas and palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Eleanor Brescacin of Pen Argyl, as maid of honor; Miss Terry Wash of Bethlehem, Miss Joan Shaner, and Miss Janet Shaner, of Maple Hill; Miss Faith Chamberlain, sister of the bridegroom of Delaware Water Gap, as bridesmaids and Miss Lois Shaner of Maple Hill as junior bridesmaid.

Richard Ruggs Jr. of East Stroudsburg, was best man. Philip Jones, West Pittston; Stanley Butcavage, Minersville; Galand Anderson of Allentown and Stanley Cross, Philadelphia were ushers.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with a scoop neckline, short sleeves with matching gauntlets jeweled with tiny lace flowers, and a bouffant skirt of Chantilly lace over taffeta which ended in a chapel train. Her crown of lace, trimmed with sequins and seed pearls, held her finger-tip veil of imported illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and white delphinium in a cluster and wore a seed pearl necklace.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were all dressed alike in gowns of white nylon tulle, ankle length, with red velvet ribbon entwined. The strapless gowns were worn with stoles and the skirts were flounced. They wore matching iridescent head pieces. The junior bridesmaid wore an ankle length gown of white nylon trimmed with miniature red roses and ribbons and a matching bonnet.

They all carried floral parasols made of feathered Mamie Eisenhower carnations. The bride's mother wore an ice blue cotton lace dress with matching accessories and a pink orchid on a white beaded purse. The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua taffeta dress with pink accessories and a pink orchid. Following a reception at Newhart's Hall, Mahanoy City, Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain left by automobile for Florida and will then fly to Havana, Cuba. For traveling the bride wore a brown suit with gold accessories.

On their return they will make their home in Belvidere, N. J. The bride is a graduate of Mahanoy Township High School and the bridegroom of Stroudsburg High School. They are both graduates of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. In September, Mrs. Chamberlain will be a member of the Belvidere, N. J. High School faculty. Mr. Chamberlain is a member of the faculty of the Blairstown, N. J., High School.

Marie Kaul Is Bride Of N. R. Keesler

Miss Marie Ella Kaul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kaul, 205 Grove St., East Stroudsburg, was married at 2 p.m. on July 2, in the Methodist Church, East Stroudsburg, to Norman Robert Keesler, son of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Keesler, 341 Farragut Ave., Hastings-on-Hudson, N. J.

Rev. Edwin Sawyer performed the ceremony. The church was decorated with white snapdragons in altar vases, and white satin bows marking the pews. Miss Jean Maxwell was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a scalloped neckline, long pointed sleeves, and a skirt of Chantilly lace cascading to three points. A Dutch cap of lace and lily-of-the-valley held her fingertip veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and mums.

Mrs. Donald Tinney, sister of the bride, of Stroudsburg, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Keesler, sister of the Bridegroom, of Wantagh, N. Y., and Miss Joan Roos, of Cresco. They all wore waltz length gowns of blue dotted swiss with scoop necklines and carried colonial bouquets of summer flowers repeated in their matching floral headbands.

Dr. Earl Keesler, father of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Donald Tinney, brother-in-law of the bride and Howard Marsh, of Hastings-on-Hudson.

The bride's mother wore a pink lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow tea roses. The bridegrooms' mother wore a dress of blue silk shantung with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Virginia Davies Predmore

Area Teacher Places Third In Contest

Portland—Mrs. Virginia Davies Predmore of Delaware Ave., Portland, teacher in the first grade of the Washington Township, Port Colden, N. J., Consolidated School has been informed by the National Headquarters in Washington, D. C. that she has won third prize in the National Association of Home Builders contest for the Elementary School Teachers.

The prize was awarded for a manuscript written by Mrs. Predmore concerning a Home Unit which she developed and taught in the first grade.

The class consisting of 26 boys and 6 girls constructed an 8 foot by 5 foot by 5 foot house in the class-room. Due to the large number of boys, it was decided to make the unit more interesting by actually building the house. All phases of the curriculum was correlated to make the unit more interesting. The girls of the class helped too, not only to make the curtains etc. but in the actual building.

The unit proved so successful that Mrs. Predmore submitted the manuscript which now will be published in "Educational Magazine" in hopes that it will be beneficial to other teachers.

Except for the roof framework, the house was built entirely by the first graders working daily in half hour periods. The walls were made from discarded crat-ings, then covering them with sheet-rock. They, also prepared shingles out of heavy wrapping paper and a window with blue shutters, also a flower box.

In planning the blueprint, the children divided the one room into a kitchen and sitting room. For the kitchen, they constructed a stove, sink and overhead cupboards from cartons. The walls were covered with heavy brown wrapping paper with rows of yellow roses mimeographed and colored by the children. Curtains for the kitchen windows were made by the girls.

In fitting the second section of the house as a sitting room, a knotty pine paneling effect was achieved by covering the walls with brown wrapping papér and painting knots in black paint. A bookcase and chair from the classroom completed the interior decorative program.

Mrs. Predmore is now on a year's leave of absence from teaching duties.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

All right, I'll be honest. It wasn't quite the 20th wedding anniversary we'd have planned, but I'll wager we'll remember it long, long after we'd have forgotten a more conventionaal celebration.

Since the guests ranged in age from three to 73, a formal dinner seemed out of the question. So we decided to make it very informal—a hot dog roast on the island at the river—outside because the cottage hadn't yet been cleaned and was full of boats and the smell of gasoline and mice.

The fire was laid, the children were wet and muddy and hungry from swimming, the picnic table was set—so the rains descended and the floods came and the thunder rolled up and down the river valley.

It seemed impossible that we could get 16 people and a dog all in the house at once, let alone cook and eat. But we did it. If not in style at least in closer and noiser quarters than any night-club we could have chosen.

The entertainment, after we'd finally ferried the whole crew home in the dark, was even louder and funnier than a night club. They tried to un-tune a ukulele to harmonize with the out-of-tune piano.

As I said, nobod in their right minds would have planned it that way, but 20 years from now we'll still be talking about it, I'll bet. Especially the climax, when the goat slipping in behind some unwary child came bounding into the living room, half-way up the stairs and then leaned over the banister to start eating my anniversary flowers.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Strange, but I had a premonition when we entered the dining room Wednesday night that we'd meet someone from home. We had stopped at Trainer's, Dottie Sturdevant and I, enroute from a busy day in Philadelphia, and the dining room was crowded with laughing, gaily chattering, well-fed strangers.

I noticed a few minutes later that the organ had swung into a booming version of "Happy Birthday", and that a lighted cake was being carried to one of the tables . . . but it wasn't until some time later that I realized two of the diners were our own Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Taylor of Stroudsburg.

What is more, whether or not Trainer's management realizes it, Wyckoff's store was in business right there in their very own dining room. Passing our table as they left the dining room, Mrs. Taylor suddenly remembered an item of Wyckoff merchandise she had forgotten to purchase. Would it be possible, she asked me, for me to buy it for her as soon as I returned to work? I said it would . . . and I did. Bright and early Thursday morning I was in the store, making the purchase . . . and that is really long distance shopping! But anything to please a Wyckoff customer!

So you want to be glamorous! It's a statement. It's also a question being asked of our teen age girls by Doubleday, which has published a new book by Adah Broadbent with the intent purpose of teaching even very young ladies a few beauty tricks.

Miss Broadbent is a professional lecturer on charm, who began her career as an art teacher and quickly saw the possibilities of her special knowledge of line and color. Her pupils were soon helping each other make the most of their personalities and appearance, under her watchful eye and expert influence.

Some of the teen-wise tips from the book include the following: Use color as a camouflage. Disguise excess curves with grayed blues and misty greens, using one color from hemline to hat. Wear a bright navy blue for complexion flattery—it has no equal. Select rounded, not pointed collars, if yours is a pointed chin. If you have trouble with your proportions, pay attention to the lines of your clothes—a pleated skirt and bolero jacket can give a long-legged look, for example.

Make your accessories "budget-low and ingenuity-high." Fashion an "exclusive" evening purse from an inexpensive cosmetic bag simply by adding a bright clip or flower. Start a fad too . . . pin those mittens you're always losing into the lining of your coat with a horse blanket pin when you hang the coat away.

Miss Broadbent's book, "Teen-Age Glamour" emphasizes graceful carriage, orderliness for punctuality's sake, and proper use of the voice. She even suggests that one add a rosy tint to the face on a rainy day by carrying a bright red umbrella.

This book, which will undoubtedly be welcomed by teeners AND their mothers, may be ordered through our Wyckoff book department. It is delightfully illustrated by Anna Marie Magagna, whose drawings appear in Vogue, Bride's Magazine, and Mademoiselle, and on the packages of some of our best-loved cosmetics.

Three Artists Display Works At Tamiment

TAMIMENT — The first of two invitation shows featuring the works of outstanding artists is now being held at Camp Tamiment.

One of the three artists whose work is on display is Sterling Strauser, East Stroudsburg. The show began on July 1 and will continue through July 31.

Strauser, whose work is familiar to art patrons in the Pocono Mountains area, is represented in the show by 20 paintings. The East Stroudsburg artist has had numerous one-man shows in New York where exhibits of his work are sponsored by Marguerite Zimbalist.

The two other artists included in the present Tamiment invitational show are Alfred Crimi and Selma Gubin.

Headed Audubon Artists

Crimi is past president of Audubon Artists and is on the board of Artists' Equity. He has taught at Pratt Institute and has lectured at Columbia University. His work is exhibited at the Smithsonian Institution, the Museum of Modern Art and the Academy of Arts and Letters.

Miss Gubin has studied with Thomas Hart Benton, John Sloan and Raphael Soyer. She is one of several U. S. artists whose work has been purchased by a special grant from the U. S. Treasury Department for a traveling art show. Her work was shown at the New York World's Fair.

The two invitational shows are being sponsored by Tamiment on a "purchase prize" basis. At least one or more of the works being shown in the current show and the second show in August will be bought for a permanent place in the Tamiment collection.

Artists whose work will be shown in the August show will include John J. Soble of Bushkill, Karl Manhahan and Anatol Shulkin.

U Nu Stirs Diplomatic Flurry By Assuming America Is Ready To Admit Red China To U.N.

By Spencer Davis
(For J. M. Roberts)

On a quest for relaxed East-West tensions, Burma's neutralist Prime Minister U Nu has achieved an opposite effect by reviving the controversial issue of Communist China's admittance into the United Nations.

Before his arrival last week for a call on official Washington, U. S. authorities let it be known the former schoolteacher's bland, scholarly manner could be quite misleading.

These officials described him as a forceful, alert personality and said the impressions he got in the United States would carry weight, particularly in his quarter of the globe.

Gives Impression

But it was hardly anticipated that the mild-appearing U Nu would touch off a highly vexatious diplomatic issue. At a New York news conference he divulged his "impression" that most U. S. authorities in Washington feel Red China's admission to the U. N. is only a question of timing.

Coming as it did just before the Geneva summit conferences of the Big Four later this month, U Nu's statement brought a flurry of inquiries. Diplomats, particularly from countries closely allied with the United States in Asia, feared they might be left holding an empty bag. Had there actually been a drift, they asked, toward a policy change on Communist China?

From both Senate and House poured more questions and demands that the responsible U.S. officials referred to by U Nu be named.

Not Even Mentioned

The State Department said U. S. opposition to a U. N. Seat for Red China is unchanged. The White House declared neither President Eisenhower nor Secretary of State Dulles had even so much as mentioned the seating question.

Indian Diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon, who has been conducting India's campaign to relax East-West tensions, was taken aback. He told newsmen privately he does not consider the question of Red China's admission to the U. N. the "crux of the present problem."

As Menon saw it, the immediate problem is "avoidance of war — that's the explosive issue."

A veteran State Department career officer offered one explanation for U Nu's "impression." He said he felt the Burmese, possibly seeing things through rose-colored spectacles, had overlooked the various conditions which it is felt here should be attached to U. N.

Conditions Mentioned

This country would expect Peiping to mend its ways, live down its past as an aggressor nation in Korea, and generally demonstrate a willingness to abide by U. N. charter obligations.

Not until then would the top echelon of U. S. policymakers consider a shift, this official said, whatever "impressions" were gained by U Nu.

Regional Projects To Be Considered By NPIDC Board

HAZLETON, July 6 — Several important matters affecting the economy of the northeast corner of Pennsylvania will be under consideration on Friday, July 15, when the board of directors of the Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Development Commission meets here at Gus Genetti's Hotel and Restaurant.

Victor C. Diehm, NPIDC president, said that a full agenda covering regional industrial development plans now before the state government, highways plans for the area including the northeastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, the $17,800,000 Bear Creek Reservoir project, the $17 million mine drainage program, and renewal of the fight to have distressed areas considered in all federal construction and contract programs are among the principal items to be reviewed.

Many Red Chinese Deserting Army

HONG KONG, July 7 (AP) — The pro - Nationalist newspaper Kung Sheung reported today that wholesale lots of Red China's soldiers in Kwangsi province have deserted because they were forced to work in the fields and on flood control projects.

Timetables, Finally

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—The railroad system that carries more passengers than any other railroad in the world is finally issuing timetables.

MIDGET FOOTBALL may become a reality in East Stroudsburg this Autumn. The groundwork for the program may even begin some time this month, if Jack Kist, athletic director and football and baseball coach at East Stroudsburg High, receives a little more money. Several organizations have chipped in with sizeable contributions and the success of the venture appears to have virtually passed its initial milestone. It is quite possible that the program may consist of as many as six teams.

Uniforms and every bit of necessary equipment will be purchased for each player and the program won't get under way until each and every boy is completely outfitted. Kist will rule over the program and will receive assistance from several qualified townsmen, will give East Stroudsburg The addition of midget football another proving ground for the grid sport, which is rapidly challenging Little League baseball.

East Stroudsburg now has a varsity, junior varsity and Junior High School football setup. The midget games, if and when played, will be held on a specially constructed field, matching specifications in every respect. Kist has received several offers of assistance and at the present time sees only the lack of finances as a major draw back. This sport will serve as a form of recreation and will also serve as a developing field for future East Stroudsburg High football players.

The Cavaliers recently received new football helmets to be worn by the varsity beginning next September. Jack Mullins, president of the Stroudsburg Little League, is to be complimented for postponing tonight's action in his circuit so that full attention may be focused on the Stroudsburg-Bangor Babe Ruth League playoff at Gordon Giffels Field. Jack did the same thing while serving as president of the Monroe County Softball League last summer.

It is quite possible that Art Wall, who carries the Pocono Manor name on the professional golf trail, may play in the ninth annual Anthracite Open to be held at Pocono Manor on Monday, July 25. This tournament could very easily be the largest ever held in the Pocono Mountains. At a late hour last night the entry list included 250 golfers, both professional and amateur. The Manor course is in tremendous condition at the present time, despite dry weather conditions.

Unofficial reports out of Bangor reveal that only one member of the Slate Belt Babe Ruth League team that will appear at Gordon Giffels Field today is batting under .380 and one of the marks is a lofty .575. A big crowd is expected to witness tonight's struggle, with both the Slate Belt and the Stroudsburg-Barrett contingents anxious to advance another notch in the playoff schedule. Four umpires will rule over today's encounter.

Gary "Jeep" Peckman, former East Stroudsburg athlete, took another step along his boxing career since we last spoke about the local sailor now serving aboard the USS Iowa. Peckman recently knocked out the third ranking welterweight on the ship. The knockout came in the third round and the big blow was a looping left. "Jeep" has been on the sick list for a day or two, but hopes to resume training for future fights as soon as the Iowa departs from England.

Tom Somers, president of the Varsity "S" Association, is shapening up his golf game at the new driving range on W. Main St. before making his debut on area golf courses. A special golf day has been arranged by the Shawnee Women's Golf Association on Tuesday, July 19, at which time the Shawnee ladies will invite friends from Glen Brook to take part in the program at Shawnee Inn and Country Club.

A lot of interest is being centered on Sunday's Pocono Mountains League baseball game between Lake Harmony and Saylorsburg, on the former's home field. Lake Harmony is the only team to defeat league leading Saylorsburg thus far in the present campaign. Another Lake Harmony victory would put Sunday's host in a very favorable position in the flag race. A Saylorsburg nod will take virtually all doubt out of the pennant fight. The Lakers have led almost all the way to this date.

Stroudsburg To Battle Slate Belt

STROUDSBURG - Barrett and the Slate Belt Babe Ruth Baseball Leagues launch the district playoffs today at Gordon Giffels Field, with each pointed toward a position in the Pennsylvania Tournament to be held in Scranton later this month.

Today's activity in the district playoffs will be held at Gordon Giffels Field, with the first pitch scheduled to take place at 6 p. m.

Paul Stansberry is scheduled to do the pitching for the team composed of stars in the Bangor-Roseto-Pen Argyl area, while the Stroudsburg-Barrett management was undecided last night as to which of three flingers would handle the opening mound chores.

Bill Reaser and Warren "Mag" Loney, co-managers of the Stroudsburg-Barrett contingent, announced that the home team's opening pitcher would be either Jim Snyder, Frank "Buddy" Radler or Paul Frailey. Frailey is the only right hander in the group.

Lineups

The Stroudsburg-Barrett management announced that its starting lineup and batting order would feature either Evan Reese or Jack Wallie, left field; Barry Tretheway or Jerry Cheslock, shortstop; Carl Smith, third base; Charley Harrison, center field; Charley Cramsey, first base; Vic Ajygin, second base; Irvin Smith, right field; Bob Herman or Bob Stine, catcher, and the pitcher.

King Beers and Dale Metzgar, originally listed to play with the Stroudsburg team, will not be in uniform today. Beers is sick in bed with a bad case of poison and high fever, while Metzgar is vacationing in Canada.

The Slate Belt team will practice from 4 to 5 p. m. today, while the Stroudsburg club takes over the field from 5 to 5:45 and action gets underway promptly at 6 p. m.

Former Fight Manager Dies

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Daniel (Dumb Dan) Morgan, who once managed three world boxing champions, died in his sleep today at his uptown home. He was 82.

His champions were welter weight Jack Britton, middleweight Al McCoy and light heavyweight Battling Levinsky.

Although he was called "Dumb Dan," the wiry little fellow with the sparkling eyes was just the opposite.

Pocono Little League Takes Corrective Steps

MOUNT POCONO—Two courses of special instruction have been ordered for umpires in the Pocono Little League, following a three and one-half hour special meeting here at the Fire House last night.

The meeting was called by Frank Thomas, circuit president, to iron out many of the difficulties that have beset the league in recent weeks.

"I'm not interested in what happened in the past, but I am interested in what happens in the future," Thomas informed the gathering of 33 men.

A total of 24 umpires were recommended by the managers present and these umpires will attend special class today and tomorrow, here at the Fire House. Each meeting, under the direction of Major William Varney, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

"The schedule will not resume until some sort of a guarantee can be presented that umpires will run the game according to the rules and keep it under control at all times," Thomas announced following the meeting.

Each umpire in chief will read prior to every game the actual object of Little League baseball, so that every spectator present can hear. It was also decided to print posters so as to inform spectators just why the game of Little League baseball was founded.

Managers were called on to give viewpoints and a general discussion followed.

It was also decided to order more rule books.

Managers partially completed the task of picking an All-Star team and it was announced that the circuit would feature a "Tag Day" on Saturday, July 30.

Dropo Drives Home Five Runs As White Sox Crush Tigers

DETROIT, July 7 (AP)—Walt Dropo pounded out a grand-slam home run and knocked in five runs in leading the Chicago White Sox to a 12-1 romp over the Detroit Tigers today.

Righthander Dick Donovan retired the first 9 batters in order, then the last 10.

The big blow was Dropo's grand-slammer in the sixth inning, highlighting a six-run explosion. He drove the ball into the lower left field deck, some 355 feet away, against relief pitcher Babe Birrer.

Second Time

It was Dropo's 10th homer of the season and his second with the bags loaded.

George Kell started Chicago's big sixth with a single to right. He buzzed around to third when Jim Rivera doubled into the rightfield corner. After Sherman Lollar was intentionally passed to fill the bases, Dropo unloaded his homer. The rally kept going on three straight singles by Donovan, Jim Busby and Nellie Fox. Leo Cristante, who then replaced Birrer, walked the next two batters to force across two more runs.

Mays Paces Giants To Nod Over Phils

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Willie Mays clouted his 26th and 27th home runs as the New York Giants overcame a 5-0 deficit to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-5 today for a sweep of the two-game series.

The Giants collected 10 hits against four hurlers, half of them for home runs. Besides Mays' pair, giving him 10 in his last 10 games, Alvin Dark, Hank Thompson and rookie Gail Harris also sent drives into the seats.

Three Swats

Three of the circuit clouts came in the sixth inning when the Giants scored six times to take a 6-5 lead. Up to then, Murry Dickson, Philadelphia's veteran righthander, had allowed one hit, a third inning single by Bobby Hofman.

Braves Tame Cubs To Take Over Second

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves defeated Chicago a second straight time today, 3-2, to move into second place ahead of the Cubs by a single percentage point.

Bobby Thomson's two out single in the eighth inning scored Eddie Mathews with the winning run as the Braves fought back behind Bob Buhl's five hit pitching to overcome a 2-0 deficit.

Pinch Clout

Andy Pafko's pinch homer behind a walk to Del Crandall with two out in the seventh fashioned a 2-2 deadlock. It was Pafko's first homer of the year, and the ex-Cub's clout cleared the left field screen.

Second Ward Defeats Fourth

BANGOR—Second Ward defeated First Ward by a 10-7 margin at Memorial Park last night and tightened its hold on first place in the Bangor Little League standings.

NBA To Recognize Pennsylvania Ring Action

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 7 (AP)—Tony Petronella, president of the National Boxing Assn., said tonight the NBA will honor Pennsylvania's suspension of Harold Johnson.

The announcement came after James A. Finnegan, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania said he felt certain the NBA would honor the six month suspension and that states not in the NBA "will go along with the Pennsylvania ruling."

Petronella said the Pennsylvania commission "did a fine job under trying conditions and should be complimented on its handling of the case."

He said the NBA would honor the action "100 per cent."

Johnson was suspended last night in a 19-page report of the state athletic commission covering findings on the May 6 Philadelphia bout between Johnson and Julio Mederos. The commission found Johnson "acted against the best interests of boxing" by failing to report that he was ill prior to the nationally televised bout.

The commission ruled Johnson, who was unable to answer the bell for the third round, was drugged.

The Illinois Athletic Commission already has indicated it will recognize the Pennsylvania suspension. The Missouri Athletic Commission says it will automatically recognize the suspension if approved by the NBA.

Finnegan has been sitting in on the commission's meetings with Gov. Leader since the controversial fight set off a 90-day suspension of all professional boxing in the state.

That suspension, ordered by Leader, is due to end Aug. 9 but it has been indicated it will be extended until a proposed new boxing code is written into law.

Dodgers Nip Bucs Despite Late Spurt

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers curbed a two-run ninth inning rally to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates today, 4-3. Righthanded Billy Loes struck out Roberto Clemente, with two men on, for his ninth win, against two defeats.

All four Dodger runs came off Ronnie Kline, who beat the Dodgers twice last weekend at Ebbetts Field.

Duke Snider opened the Dodgers' scoring in the first inning, after he doubled and came home on a single by Gil Hodges.

Sixth Homer

Junior Gilliam slammed out his sixth home run of the season in the second, with nobody aboard. He lashed out again in the fourth with a triple, and was scored by Dixie Howell's single to center.

Johnny O'Brien and Preston Ward starred for the Pirates. O'Brien banged out a two-bagger and three singles for four times at bat, his last single coming in the crucial bottom half of the ninth.

Ward homered for the third time this season in the second, bringing home just himself.

Frank Thomas touched off the Pirate rally. Thomas struck out, catcher Dixie Howell let the ball roll to the screen and Thomas was safe at first.

Then Preston Ward sacrificed, and Toby Atwell singled, scoring Thomas. O'Brien singled and Tom Saffell was sent out to run for him. Dick Groat flied out. Pinch-hitter Jack Shepard singled and brought Atwell home.

Red Sox Keep Rolling, 6-5

BOSTON, July 7 (AP)—Boston's storming Red Sox hung up their seventh straight victory 6-5 over Washington tonight on decisive seventh inning sigles by Jackie Jensen and Grady Hatton and sharp ninth inning relief by George Susce.

The win put the fourth place Sox 6½ games behind idle first place New York and marked their 26th victory in the last 31 contests.

Eight Straight

Susce, third Sox hurler, replaced Ellis Kinder after two doubles and a single gave Washington two runs with none out in the ninth. Susce got Tom Umphlett to pop up, and struck out Ed FitzGerald which turned into a double play when Pedro Ramos was cut down trying to steal second.

Boston drove out loser Bob Porterfield, who now has dropped eight straight decisions, in the seventh. Jensen got a tie-breaking single after Billy Goodman walked and Ted Williams bounced a single over second.

Anthracite Open Listed For Manor

POCONO MANOR—One of the biggest golf tournaments ever played in the Pocono Mountains will be held here on Monday, July 25, when a field of more than 250 players takes part in the ninth annual Anthracite Open.

The large field will include many outstanding pros and amateurs, with the former shooting for cash prizes amounting to $2,000.

Jack Cuttle, veteran Pocono Manor pro, announced yesterday that the tournament will get underway at 8 a.m. on July 25 and players will continue to tee-off until 3:45 p.m.

One pro will team with two amateurs in the 18-hole tournament. The tournament will be judged on a medal play basis.

The entry fee is $10.

Indians Turn Loose Power To Roll Over Kansas City, 9-1

KANSAS CITY, July 7 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians turned loose their home run power today to smother the Kansas City A's, 9-1 as Larry Doby smashed two round-trippers over the left field fence and Al Rosen chipped in with another.

The Indians broke loose after Lefty Art Ceccarelli had shackled them with only one hit, a triple by George Strickland, and shut them out for six innings.

Rally

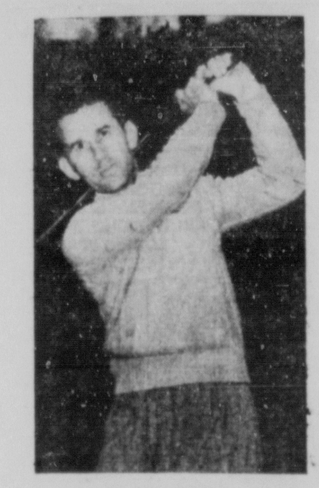

Then Doby ignited a 3-run seventh with a leadoff homer over the left field barrier. That was enough, but the Indians came right back in the eight. Rosen led off with a homer and Doby followed with his second, again to the opposite field.

Glen Brook To Feature Tournament

GLEN BROOK Country Club's third annual Pro-Aamteur Golf Tournament will be the biggest in history, according to an announcement made yesterday by Tony Midiri, host pro.

"The best field in this tournament's history will be in action on Monday, July 18," Midiri revealed.

In addition to Midiri, local pros in the expected large field will be Harry Obitz, Stan Dudas, Dick Farley and Ronnie Ward, all of Shawnee; Jack Cuttle and Al Smith, Pocono Manor; Ted Beadle, Buck Hill Falls; Ray Lambert, Mountain Manor, and Harold Calloway, Skytop.

Fred Waring, owner of Shawnee Inn and Country Club and director of the famed Pennsylvanians, has been presented an invitation to compete in the amateur bracket.

Top Notch

John Serafin, Philadelphia District PGA championlast year, and John Weitzel, runnerup in the same tournament from Hershey, will add professional glitter to the Glen Brook tournament, as will Henry Williams, Berkleigh Country Club; Charley LePre, Haddonfield, N. J.; Jim Gantz, Harrisburg, and Paul Midiri, of the Swing Rite Golf Range, Merchantville, N. J.

Felix Serafin, veteran campaigner from Pittston, is also expected to take part in the one-day tournament which features one round of 18 holes.

John Lewis and Jack Penrose, Balla Range, and Johnny Vasco and Larry Bell, Lehigh Country Club, shared the title last year with best balls of 66. Each team is expected to shoot for the top prize again this year.

Local teams will tee off first, giving those golfers traveling a great distance ample time to prepare for play. The first foursome is expected to leave the initial tee at 8:30 a.m.

Americans Falter In British Open

By Sterling Slappey

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 7 (AP) — Defending champion Peter Thomson of Australia stroked home a 20-foot pressure putt on the 18th green today for a fast-finishing 68 and a place among the three front runners in the British Open golf championship.

The handsome Aussie moved into a tie with Scotland's Eric Brown and Wales' Denis Smalldon after their rounds of 70 and 69 respectively. Each had scored 139 in 36 holes.

No Contenders

None of the five Americans in the tournament now is regarded as a serious contender for the title.

A bunker called "Hell" stopped Joe Conrad and he took a 75 for a 148. Another bunker almost as hellish on the same 14th hole trapped Ed Furgol and he had another 76 for 147.

Byron Nelson and Jimmy McHale played well until they reached the Old Course's big and rolling greens. But then they had putting troubles. Nelson had a 75 for 147 and McHale a 76 for 148.

All players with 149 or more were dropped, cutting the field to 50 for tomorrow's final 36 holes.

Mrs. Nitrauer Wins Tourney Held By Glen Brook Women

MRS. ORIOLE NITRAUER won the 18-hole version of the Calloway Golf Tournament during the regular Thursday meeting of the Glen Brook Country Club Women yesterday.

Mrs. Nitrauer shot a 74 to pace the large field in a tournament that counts only the score registered on certain unannounced holes. Scores aren't known until after each round is played.

Mrs. George Savidge earned a 35 to win the nine-hole version of the same tournament.

Peg Cramer, Mrs. Nitrauer and Sue Edinger tied for the putting prize and will draw at a later date to determine the winner.

Anyone wishing to play next week, or those unable to play at that time, are asked to telephone Sallie Fansler, at Stroudsburg 3956.

Letters To The Editor

The Daily Record welcomes Letters signatures and addresses will be with a bona fide address given. Such withheld if the writer desires.

5 July 1955

Dear Mr. Riley:

I HAVE NEVER written to an Editor before and can't honestly say that I have always agreed with your views but this time I do. Your column, Life of Riley, this date prompted me to air my views on Little League Baseball as I have been seeing it in the Pocono Mountain Little League because I am still doing a slow burn over a little league game I saw only last night.

First let me state that I do have a boy who has been working two years to earn himself a spot on one of the teams and still has not played a total of three innings of league ball so I do not feel prejudiced in favor of one particular team. Next year may be his chance but I may feel forced to refuse him that chance because baseball, to me, is the finest game ever invented and I cannot stand by and watch a few feebleminded adults ruin that game and teach my boy and others to use rotten tactics and bum sportsmanship to win baseball games at any cost. By these tactics I mean the manager instructing a boy at the plate to squat down over the plate so there was actually NO strike zone left at all and the home town umpire calling four straight balls, all very good pitches by the way, and a lot of parents defending this too.

Another case on the same team, this writer has observed, on three successive occasions, the shortstop blocked the base runner and knocked him to the ground when the ball was in play on another part of the field and the hometown umpire refused to admit it was interference.

In another game I actually saw the coach of one team rush over to the opposite side of the playing field and strike an older man in the face and make the claret flow.

On another occasion, another home team was leading in the fourth inning but the visitors rallied to go ahead in the fifth when a few drops of rain began to fall and the manager, not waiting for the officials to rule on the situation, promptly called his team off the field so the score reverted to the fourth inning thereby winning the game.

There has been at least one boy rather badly injured by rough play in this league so far this season and at the rate these rough tactics are increasing I fear to think what may happen before this season ends and can only hope my boy isn't standing too close when the bubble bursts.

Signed,

The disgusted father of a Little Leaguer.

P. S. The manager of the team on which my boy is trying to play has tried faithfully to teach his boys good sportsmanship but in the face of the opposition he is fighting a losing battle and right now he is trying to bow out in favor of some other person as manager. A SAD PLIGHT, IS IT NOT?

National Bank Uses Closing Rush To Defeat HLH, 15-12

EAST STROUDSBURG National Bank finished with a rush last night to gain a 15-12 victory over Heller-Lloyd-Howell in an East Stroudsburg Little League baseball game.

HLH stepped out to a 6-0 lead in the first two innings, but the Bankers came roaring back with four counters in the third, seven in the fourth, three in the fifth and then finished with one in the sixth and final round.

HLH also fought back with two tallies in the bottom of the third, three in the fifth and one in the sixth, but this spurt failed to catch the determined Bankers.

Each team collected 13 hits, but the Bankers won despite committing six errors.

Today's schedule will send HLH back into action against the Methodists. The game was originally scheduled for Monday, but was postponed because of the Fourth of July holiday.

Security Trust Takes Measure Of Coalmen

SECURITY TRUST demonstrated its power bright and early last night and rolled to a 8-4 verdict over Peoples Coal in a Stroudsburg Little League baseball game.

Three runs in the first and five markers in the second put Security Trust into an 8-0 advantage that proved too tough for the Coalmen to handle.

Security Trust did all of its damage on nine hits, while the Coalmen were held to five safeties.

No game will be played in the circuit today, but Colonial Diner and National Bank will battle at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

Colts Sign Rookie End

BALTIMORE, July 7 (AP) — The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League announced today the signing of 6-foot-6 end Sam Williams of Fayetteville, N.C., Teachers.

The 215-pound Negro player is a native of Pittsburgh.

Campanella To Miss Game

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that Roy Campanella definitely would not catch in the All-Star game next Tuesday.

Examination

After an examination by doctors in New York today, it was decided Campy would rest for at least another week.

The All-Star catcher since 1949, Campanella hurt his left knee June 21.

Dinermen Eliminate Coates, 5-4

AL BESECKER'S Diner eliminated Coates Board and Carton Co. from the Monroe County Softball Tournament last night by scoring a 5-4 victory at Stroudsburg Playground.

The Dinermen will now face the loser of the Twin City-Keiper's Laundry tussle today.

Twin City and Keiper's played four full innings last night, before darkness halted the battle. Twin City was leading at the time, 5-1.

Fifth Inning

The game will be resumed today in the top of the fifth and the second tussle will follow immediately after the final out of the completed contest. Action is carded for 6 p. m.

Besecker's club rolled up a 4-1 edge in three innings last night, but was forced to fight off a determined finish by the Coates contingent.

The Dinermen were held to six hits, but took good advantage of five opposition errors to do their damage.

Coates banged out a total of nine hits, but even with the help of four errors by the Dinermen couldn't quite make the grade.

Glider Lands At Swiftwater After Flight From Elmira

SWIFTWATER—Hal Bovenkert, 34, Ballston, N. Y. glider pilot, sailed 100 miles in the annual three-day soaring distance contest yesterday to land on the Ethel Wakefield farm here at 4:45 p.m.

Bovenkert had an uneventful trip, gliding along at about 6,000 feet altitude. His planned destination was Wilmington, Del., better than 200 miles from the Elmira, N. Y. starting point.

The New York State glider expert said he followed the Susquehanna River valley down through New York state to Scranton, then cut over the Poconos.

High clouds and hot temeratures provided the excellent updrafts needed to move gliders in the three-day contest ending yesterday.

Bovenkert took off from Elmira, N. Y. at noon yesterday.

His pick-up crew followed his movement and were last heard of in Scranton. They moved in shortly after Bovenkert reported to Elmira that he had landed to move the glider by vehicle back to Elmira.

Bovenkert said 20 glider pilots took part in yesterday's final competition.

MRS. CATHERINE E. KREITZER, 54-year-old Bible reading grandmother of Camp Hill, Pa., won $32,000 and a chance to try for $64,000 next week on a television quiz show. She answered a three-part question, one part of which was to name the eight disciples of Jesus. She was also asked to tell how Peter and Matthew earned their living and to give the name of the father of James the Less.

$32,000 Winner Peeved At Self For Mental Lapse

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 7(AP)—Grandmother Catherine Kreitzer whose knowledge of the Bible won her $32,000 on a TV quiz show and a chance to double the money — or lose it all—said yesterday she found it hard to forgive herself for hesitating to name all 12 of Jesus disciples.

Name them she did after a tense moment of faltering, recovering to answer promptly and correctly two other questions concerning the disciples.

"I was sure mad at myself last night," the 54-year-old typist of nearby Camp Hill told a newsman. "Maybe it was momentary confusion, but even so I should have known the apostles right off. It's not easy to forgive yourself for such a lapse."

Now she muste decide whether to retire with the $32,000 or go back to New York next Tuesday and try to double that amount on the program, the $64,000 Question. If she tries for the grand prize and loses, the gift of an automobile will be the consolation.

Two Injured In Accident

Rump suffered elbow, thumb and nose cuts; his daughter sustained a cut lower lip, bruised foot and her teeth were loosened by the crash, police said. Damage to the car was placed at about $500.

However, for the next two weeks, we are offering you these SURPLUS cars at wholesale prices, much less than you can buy any comparable car in this area.
If you are interested in the purchase of a fine automobile be sure you see these cars before you make a purchase ANYWHERE. It will pay you dividends. Our lot is open from 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.—7 P.M. to 9 P.M. Monday thru Saturday.

Hawaiian Dances Interpreted At Rotary Dinner Meeting

THE STROUDSBURG Rotary Club was entertained at the club's weekly dinner meeting yesterday by Mrs. Doris Wade, Washington, D. C., who gave an interesting series of native Hawaiian dances with recorded accompaniment.

Mrs. Wade is currently visiting her sister, Mrs. Jack Shinn at Vacation Valley.

Joe Small assumed the presidency of the Stroudsburg Club yesterday. He succeeds Earl Groner.

Mrs. Wade interpreted Hawaiian dances with feeling and skill. She spent six years in Hawaii and made a careful study of Hawaiian folk dances.

Dances As Language

According to Mrs. Wade, Hawaii at first had no written language. The native dance, with interpretive movements of hands, arms and hips, largely took the place of written language. Each dance interpreted life. Love stories provided the most popular themes.

In bare feet and grass skirt, Mrs. Wade presented an attractive picture. The traditional hibiscus was pinned at her hair, while a leis hung around her neck.

Walter S. Peeney, past district governor of Rotary and a delegate to the Rotary International Convention in Hawaii some weeks ago, was program chairman and introduced Mrs. Wade.

200-Pound Cake

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—A 200-pound cake with nine tiers, standing higher than the average man, has been baked here for a wedding in Samoa that will unite the two royal families. The cake contains 90 eggs, 60 pounds of fruit, and 70 pounds of icing. The wedding of Emi Palalii and Tamaasese Foegagogo takes place Aug. 6.

Between 1913 and 1950, federal, state and local government expenditure in the United States multiplied more than 22 times from $3,100,000,000 to $69,500,000,000, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

Appenzell

MR. AND MRS. Roy Paul, children Linda and Dan were entertained Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Oliver at Portland.

Rev. E. T. Horn, Clair Wallingford and Roy Paul worked at cleaning up the picnic woods grounds Wednesday night preparing for the picnic. The committees have been appointed and the Stroudsburg Band is engaged to furnish the music.

Democrats Make Plans For Outing

NAOMI LAKE — The Pocono Mountains Democratic Club will stage a clambake outing here on Aug. 7. Arrangements for the affair were made at a meeting held this week.

Beach privileges, dancing and games will supplement the clambake service. A cash award will be made during the outing. Tickets may be purchased from any of the club members.

Register and Recorder Floyd Butz, candidate for re-election, spoke at this week's meeting. He praised the organization as one of the most active and effective in the region.

Announcement will be made soon about a prominent speaker for the outing.

MRS. RALPH Barnes of Hummeltown, Pa., spent Thursday with Miss Ruth Jones on Delaware Ave. and called on Portland friends. Mrs. Barnes is a former Portland resident, Mr. Barnes having been the former owner and proprietor of the Barnes Lumber Co. on Delaware Ave.

School bills for the Portland School District were placed in the mails on Friday, July 1st. The millage on real estate is 23 mills for this year instead of the 18 mills of previous years. The per capita has been increased from $5 each to $10 each. The discount period on the bills will be from July 1 to Aug. 31. Net period from Sept. 1 to Oct. 31. After the Oct. 31 date there will be a 5% penalty added.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hutcheon spent the weekend at their summer home at Indian Lake, Denville, N. J. They were joined by their son Wallace Jr. who is attending the Naval Officer's Candidate School at Newport, R. I., for the weekend and holiday.

An error was made in the Portland High School Alumni Association officers. Miss Margaret Stine is vice president instead of Miss Ruth Jones, and Mrs. Helen Garofolo is treasurer instead of Miss Ella Jelinek, as was written in Wednesday's Portland column.

Neil Brodt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brodt, graduated on Thursday from the Institute of Barber's College in Philadelphia. He expects to be associated with his father in the barber shoppe on Delaware Ave.
